FOREWORD

The editor and staff are proud to present this, the annual picture album and history book of the College of William and Mary. It is composed for you, the students, alumni, friends, and staff, to serve each according to individual desires and needs. Now and in the future, as a picture album, this year-book will recall happy memories of college days and will inform alumni and friends of the nature of college life in 1962-63. As the history book of the college for this period, the annual contains brief records on most of our fellow students and campus organizations during this school year. It will serve many people as a reference book or source of information. This combination picture album and history book has been designed by the staff of the 1963 COLONIAL ECHO with respect to these considerations. So we hope this book may reflect to all who look within its covers some of the proud heritage and pleasant experiences associated with this honored institution.

INTRODUCTION

history . . . the lifeblood of William and Mary. We the students, intensely proud of our unique heritage, strive to keep it alive and endeavor to instill in our freshmen the loyalty to the past which our college has come to represent. They in turn will pass it on to others, and the quickened pulse which throbs within each successive student body will never miss a beat . . . Each of us, during the four years we spend here, becomes acutely aware of the history of our college. Williamsburg becomes our temporary home and we grow to love the site upon which our forefathers toiled for the cause of freedom and democracy. History plays an integral part in our college atmosphere, and we as students come away with the realization that those who choose not to learn from the past are condemned to repeat it. Books, lectures, research aid us in our quest for learning, but by choosing William and Mary as our college, we have elected the privilege of learning from our own history . . . THAT THE FUTURE MAY LEARN FROM THE PAST . . . and benefit by it.

FOR HIS DEVOTED SPIRIT AND INSPIRING
THE 1963 COLONIAL ECHO TO DEAN

DEAN WOODBRIDGE

GUIDANCE, WE DEDICATE DUDLEY W. WOODBRIDGE

During his thirty-five years of service to the College of William and Mary, Dudley Warner Woodbridge, Dean of Marshall-Wythe School of Law for the past twelve years, has earned the affection and admiration of every individual who has ever had the privilege of associating with him. Dean Woodbridge has been with the College since 1927 during which time his devotion to his duties and to his students has won him the respect of the entire college. Though his spare moments were few, Dean Woodbridge was never so busy that he could not find time to guide or counsel his students.

In 1944, Dean Woodbridge was appointed Chancellor Professor of Law, and in 1950, he rose to the position of Dean of Marshall-Wythe Law School. His retirement from the Deanship in August, 1962, was accepted with regret by President Davis Y. Paschall, and, in commemoration of his distinguished service to the College, he was honored in September by ceremonies in the Wren chapel. At this time his portrait was presented to the College on behalf of the William and Mary Law School to be hung in a place of distinction in the Great Hall of the Wren Building.

Dean Woodbridge was again honored in February at the Charter Day Convocation when he was named the recipient of the first Jeffersonian award, which, in the future, will be awarded annually to the faculty member who best displays the outstanding qualities of Thomas Jefferson.

Aside from his service to the College, Dean Woodbridge has won recognition in many other fields. He has written a number of articles which have appeared in the Virginia Law Review, and he has been very active in such community agencies as Civil Defense, Red Cross, and Home Service. In the field of academics, his honors include membership in Phi Beta Kappa; Omicron Delta Kappa; Pi Alpha Delta, honorary law fraternity; and Order of the Coif. He is also a member of the American and Virginia Bar Associations.

It is, therefore, in view of his distinguished service and his devotion to the College of William and Mary and the Marshall-Wythe School of Law, and in admiration of his outstanding character and contributions to the academic life of William and Mary, that we proudly dedicate the 1963 COLONIAL ECHO to Dudley Warner Woodbridge.

"... devotion to ... his students."

CAMPUS

OLD SUNKEN GARDEN, OLD WREN

"It is the face that the campus of the College of William and Mary presents to the world . . ."

At one end of Duke of Gloucester Street on a point of land cut off by the meeting of Richmond and Jamestown Roads, the nation's oldest academic building stands enveloped in the aura of tradition. It is the face that the campus of the College of William and Mary presents to the world. It is a prime attraction for visitors to Williamsburg; it is the first familiar landmark to the freshman as he begins his association with the college; it is the last sight for the senior as he leaves, taking some of its wisdom with him. Today it is a carefully detailed restoration of its 18th-century self, standing amidst sheltering trees and forbidding the bustling 20th century world outside to penetrate its time-worn calm. A cannon stands as a sentinel guarding its privacy and dignity, while the white picket fence outlining the yard holds back the town. Crowning the cupola is a wrought-iron weather-vane, bearing the date 1693—lest we forget.

For it has not always been so. The Wren Building itself has been the innocent victim of the ravages of two wars. Long ago it was the whole campus; today it is the heart of the campus; tomorrow it may be on its outskirts. Its physical features may be altered, but its wisdom remains the same and merely deepens with the passage of time. It has known many faces and heard many voices. It has seen many changes. It has been the silent observer as the swelling stream of students creates the story of the campus of William and Mary.

" . . . long ago it was the whole campus; today it is the heart of the campus; tomorrow it may be on its outskirts . . ."

Special thanks to Barry Fratkin for making this section possible.

GENERAL CA

"The brick walks of the campus indicate the pattern to be followed in the day's activities . . ."

Those who walk through the Wren Building and into the world beyond its walls come to know the William and Mary campus of today. Its past and its future are often overpowered temporarily by the fullness of the present. The sun is shining, brick walks are spattered with leafy shadows, and nothing matters except the sheer joy of being alive. Or perhaps it is late at night, and a boy walks alone across the Sunken Garden. The glow from the lights on the porch of the Wren Building leaves its outline etched against the deep blackness of a starless sky, and he pauses for a moment in silent appreciation of the beauty of his surroundings.

After several years at the College, the trees themselves have become old friends. They are an integral part of the setting in which the story of campus life is told. Often given only hasty recognition amidst the rush of changing classes, their presence is deeply appreciated in cherished quiet moments. The strength of a tree trunk and the protective shelter of branches come to mind with the remembrance of a favorite study place. An oddly curving tree, beautiful because of its misshapeness, enriches the daily walk past it on the way to an 8 o'clock class. Branches thick with snow, and crowned with the bright spot made by a cardinal, cause the passerby to forget for the moment the discomforts of winter. Soon shiny green magnolia leaves surround white blossoms and it is spring. Day blends into night and then twines again into day; the trees remain to offer their friendship to those who ask it.

The importance of the moment, and the comfortable familiarity of routine, easily diminish a sense of perspective. The brick walks of the campus indicate the pattern to be followed in the day's activities; from dormitories to cafeteria, from Washington to Marshall-Wythe, from the library to the Wren Building. A trip "downtown" to the post office is a daily excursion, and offers one of the few chances to venture beyond the geographical boundaries of the campus itself. At times the dimensions of the world seem to be measured by the heel-worn bricks of the sidewalks. The things that matter are the things of today: the hours to be spent amidst the rustling sounds and bookish smell of the library, working on a research paper; the football game in the confines of Cary Field, or the basketball game in Blow Gymnasium; the much-used seat to be claimed once again in the lecture room in Washington; the faintly chemical smell that will announce the opening of the door of Rogers Hall and the beginning of still another lab; the walk back to the dorm at 11 o'clock. Change occurs slowly and often passes unnoticed. Brick walls, colonial architecture, sturdy trees—all maintain the sense of permanence and timelessness of the William and Mary campus.

"After several years at the College, the trees themselves have become old friends . . ."

SORORITIES AND FRATERNITIES

For those who have come to know the campus during a period of years, each picture of it evokes thoughts of the variety of people who shared all that it offers. The students who come to the campus and make it their home give it vitality and life. It has seen generations of them come and go, forming friendships that will remain with them despite the passage of time.

The social life of the campus is one of its most vital and fascinating aspects. For many in the past, and still more today, it finds its greatest expression in sororities and fraternities. The sorority house of the present may well provide the same home for a girl that it provided for her mother before her. The walk to "the Row" is an age-old custom, as the center of campus activity moves to the fraternity lodges on Saturday night. The doors of sorority houses have been opened to countless rushes; the bricks of sorority court have felt their feet as they ran to claim new-found sisters on acceptance day. Within sorority houses and fraternity lodges the experiences resulting from close association with a group have been created by a countless number of personalities.

This phase of campus life seems to be an unchanging heritage from the past. In many ways it is, for traditions are preserved and appreciated. Yet the center of social activity is less distinct today. The new student center offers a whole new range of activities and interests. Professor and student meet informally over coffee in the Wigwam as the low drone of conversation blends with background music. The newness of the building has worn off, and the new has been successfully incorporated into the old.

PHI BETE, YATES

The Wren Building, symbolic of deep ties with the past, and central to the academic life of the present, may indeed see many changes in the future. New buildings have been added gradually, but with each one the limits of the campus are extended. Phi Beta Kappa auditorium brought the first real break from the traditional colonial architecture, and a great contribution to the cultural life of the campus. Yates dormitory continues a trend toward modern architecture, offering space to accommodate a growing student body. The sounds of construction work near Phi Beta Kappa announce the new women's gymnasium. Plans for a new library are a favorite topic of conversation. The entire campus can no longer be seen from the Wren Porch.

Yet the Wren Building remains the heart of the campus in one respect. It embodies the wisdom of the past and serves as a reminder of traditions to be cherished. Many have studied here in the past and still more will study here in the future. Its link with the present will be emphasized when the statue of Lord Botetourt, which once stood in the Wren Yard, becomes a part of the new library. And the Wren Building will still be the face that the William and Mary campus shows to the world.

Since the royal charter was first proclaimed in 1693, there has been an unbroken succession of authority vested in the Board of Visitors of the College of William and Mary. This ancient charter is still in effect in so far as the original rights and powers do not conflict with the Board's by-laws and the general laws of the State of Virginia. Time has tested the organization thus established and rendered it a valid part of the dignified tradition which surrounds the entire university.

At present, the Board of Visitors is the governing authority charged with the responsibility of supervising the operation of the College of William and Mary and the two two-year colleges, Christopher Newport College in Newport News, and Richard Bland College in Petersburg. There are fourteen members-at-large of the Board appointed by the Governor of the state, and the Superintendent of State Public Instruction is an ex officio member. Appointed biennially, they serve four-year terms. They are empowered to select a Rector, Vice-Rector, and Secretary. In addition, they appoint a President, faculty, Bursar, and coordinator or chancellor of the two two-year colleges.

To facilitate the smooth administration of college business, the Board has seven standing committees. An Executive Committee exercises the powers of the Board and conducts business in its absence. Direction and control of finances are under the jurisdiction of the Finance Committee. The Buildings and Grounds Committee is responsible for the maintenance of college buildings, grounds, and other units. Educational policies and instructional organization fall under the auspices of the Education Committee. There is also a special committee for the awarding of Honorary Degrees.

In September, the Board of Visitors instituted a merging of interest and unification of purpose with the Board of the Directors of the Society of the Alumni. Together they are revitalizing the program of the College of William and Mary in line with the forward-looking reorganization as a result of the legislation enacted by the Virginia General Assembly earlier in 1962. Thus, the Board of Visitors is constantly engaged in extracting the best from past experience and uniting it with new ideas in the constant change that yields vitality and progress.

Present members of the Board include C. Sterling Hutcheson, Rector; J. B. Woodward, Jr., Vice-Rector; W. Brooks George, Secretary; H. Lester Hooker; W. Fred Duckworth; Frank Ernst; Walter G. Mason; John P. Harper; Charles K. Hutchens; Woodrow W. Wilkerson; M. Carl Andrews; T. Edward Temple; James Asa Shield; H. H. Ware, Jr.; and Walter S. Robertson.

DR. ALVIN DUKE CHANDLER

William and Mary quietly and regretfully accepted the resignation of former President, Chancellor, and Coordinator Alvin Duke Chandler on September 15, 1962. This date marked the end of eleven years of faithful service to the College that was so dear to the heart of Dr. Chandler.

In October, 1951, "the Duke" became president of William and Mary. Following in the footsteps of his father, Dr. J. A. C. Chandler, president of William and Mary from 1919 until his death in 1934, Alvin Duke Chandler witnessed during his term as president considerable growth in many phases of the College's activity.

With his regimental military discipline and attitudes, Chandler managed to procure order from the chaos which prevailed on campus in the early 1950's. He strengthened the faculty, adding more professors with higher degrees, and shifted some former department heads. Under Chandler's administration, dormitories and classrooms were added, the school's academic reputation was once again raised, and the divisions in Richmond and Norfolk grew.

In 1960 Chandler moved up to the position of Chancellor, vacating the presidency to Davis Y. Paschall. In May, 1962, Chandler became Coordinator of Christopher Newport and Richard Bland Colleges. In this position he remained until his resignation on September 15, 1962.

For his eleven years of service and the accomplishments which he brought about, the students, the faculty, and the administration express their sincere appreciation and deepest thanks. Dr. Chandler, in addition to remaining Honorary Chancellor of William and Mary, will long be remembered at the College and will occupy a prominent page in its history.

HONORARY CHANCELLOR OF THE COLLEGE OF WILLIAM AND MARY IN VIRGINIA

Dr. and Mrs. Alvin Duke Chandler

THE PRESIDENT

Superb administrative ability motivated by an intense interest in all phases of campus activity, as well as a deep devotion toward the College and its community, characterize the three years in which Dr. Davis Y. Paschall has served as the twenty-third president of William and Mary.

Dr. Paschall, former State Superintendent of Public Instruction in Virginia, has a sincere respect for higher education and has done much to raise the standards and quality of education throughout Virginia. This fact is evidenced at William and Mary by the addition of several new courses to the school's curriculum, the plans which are now under way for the innovation of separate departments of Drama and Geology, and the increase of opportunities for students to hear faculty and off-campus lecturers. Most important of all, Dr. Paschall has been instrumental in creating an atmosphere in which students are eager to learn for learning's sake and not for the grade alone.

Grateful students acknowledge Dr. Paschall's aid in securing a Thanksgiving vacation this year. Each member of the student body becomes an individual to Dr. and Mrs. Paschall as they strive to cultivate a personal friendship with each one through class teas at the President's House, attendance at sports events, and virtual "open doors" to each and every student.

Dr. Paschall has helped to make the College a source of pride to all of its associates, and William and Mary may be justly proud of its twenty-third president.

ACADEMIC LIFE

The library—outside . . .

The intellectual atmosphere of a university is guided by the personality and scope of its faculty. Their contribution to academic life is twofold. Not only must they stimulate their students, but they, in turn, must seek stimulation to remain academically alive. At William and Mary, this intellectual symbiosis manifests itself in many phases of academic life. Actual classroom work is only the core of a delectable fruit rounded out by seminars, independent research, visiting scholars, and extra-curricular discussion groups. Indicative of this intellectual curiosity of faculty members are prolific publications and frequent study grants.

This productive atmosphere is further evidenced by the diversified backgrounds of the faculty. A roster of their alma maters is broad and diversified. This variety allows a cross-breeding of ideas in the constant search for truth.

Thus, William and Mary is careful to provide its faculty with three stimulants for thought. Each professor or instructor enjoys a range of individual thought and growth. At the same time, he is challenged from below by the inquiring minds of his students and from above by the well-formulated views of his colleagues.

Previous fields of thought have been well-cultivated by tradition. The Charter of 1693 declared William and Mary's mission to be "a place of universal study" and a college of "good Arts and Sciences." To this end, constant innovations have been made. The fruitfulness of such endeavors has been reflected by the prominent positions of leadership assumed by forward-looking alumni. There has always been a tradition of expanding values, both in scope and in quality. Original gains like Jefferson's advocacy of the introduction of law, medicine, fine arts, and modern languages have reproduced geometrically. Teacher training was initiated in 1888, and women students in 1918. Graduate programs have been directed toward those areas where, by tradition and resources, special interest and competence exist: law, early American history, marine biology, and psychology. The institution of a graduate school of government should continue to produce statesmen from William and Mary to succeed in the tradition of Jefferson.

The beneficiary of this system is the body of students engaged in study at either graduate or undergraduate levels. Just as there is dualism in the role of the professor as both scholar and teacher, and in tradition by interaction of past and present, so there is dualism in the role of the student. His task is to assimilate all of the particles of knowledge, the thoughts, and the ideas which four years at William and Mary provide for him into one basic whole. He must choose those courses which will be the most valuable for him and retain those knowledges, skills, and abilities which have significance for his life.

In an atmosphere of free intellectual inquiry each student is given this chance to grow intellectually, socially, and spiritually at his own rate of speed. Here again there is dualism in the enlightenment which simply reveals a greater darkness. This is the atmosphere that motivates men to greatness, and the attitude that professors seek to instill.

By utilizing all available facilities of the library, research, classroom discussion, and special honors or graduate programs, the William and Mary student gains from, and contributes to, the academic life of the university. He builds a factual base from which he can project original thought.

Diversity is the keynote to the success of William and Mary as an institution, as well as its component parts—faculty, tradition, and students.

THE DEAN AND FACULTY

LAW SCHOOL

The Marshall-Wythe School of Law, named after two renowned statesmen, John Marshall and George Wythe, student and professor of the School, respectively, continues to uphold its established position of one of the finest schools of law in the nation.

Offering the Bachelor of Civil Law Degree (B.C.L.) the School's curriculum affords a variety of specializations in legal study. In addition to the basic course preparing the law student for general practice, there is a combined course in business administration and law, and the course leading to the graduate program in law and taxation.

Students take advantage of the opportunity to participate in moot court work at the trial and appellate levels. The well-stocked Law Library contains over twenty-six thousand volumes.

Under the leadership of Joseph Curtis, Acting Dean, the Marshall-Wythe School of Law can be proud of its tradition and its motto—The Law, Today's Study, Tomorrow's Challenge.

STUDENT BAR

The Student Bar Association at William and Mary was created for and dedicated to introducing law students to the professional problems and responsibilities they will face upon admission to the bar. It provides a closer integration between the future lawyers and the present day leaders of the legal profession, and acquaints law students with the opportunities and obligations their career presents.

To aid the future lawyers, the association held moot courts, using undergraduate students as frequent "victims," sponsored movies, and, with the aid of prominent men in the field, conducted various discussions and lectures.

PHI ALPHA DELTA

Outstanding law students who have achieved a 1.0 overall average are invited to become members of Phi Alpha Delta, national honorary law fraternity.

Seeking to stimulate interest and provide experience in legal fields, the George Wythe Chapter at William and Mary sponsors intramural mock court trials and competitions, forums with noted guest speakers, and an annual book award. In addition to this curricular fun, they also plan various social functions for extracurricular fun.

Judicial officers keep the group active with a well-rounded agenda: Justice, Bill Ringuette; Vice Justice, Owen Knopping; Clerk, Tommy Moyles; and Treasurer, Bill Whitten.

Looking back on the four years that have elapsed since September, 1959, the Class of '63 finds it hard to realize that their stay at William and Mary is drawing to a close.

Orientation Week stands out in our minds as our first real contact with college life. Pursuing the various activities planned for us, we soon became familiar with the campus. Upper classmen became objects only to look at, as freshman girls conscientiously complied with the closed rush rules. Spring brought Rush and many of us pledged. Under the leadership of Rolf Svendsen, freshman president, we managed to keep up our academic achievement as well as our social life and returned for our second big year.

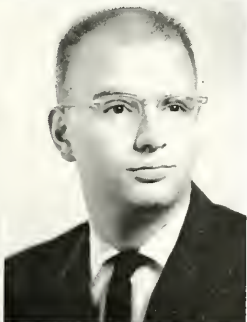

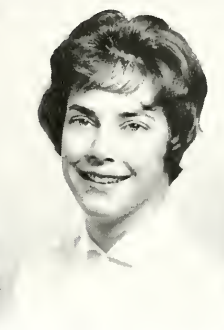

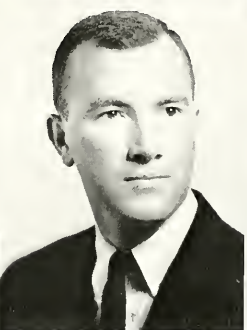

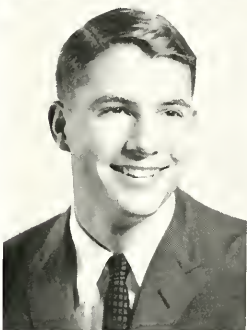

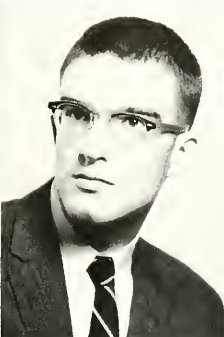

With our sophomore status came authority as we, again led by Rolf, held the freshmen in our clutches during Duc Week. At last, we were able to sit back and crack the whip. As the year progressed we became involved in activities, and the ponderous decision of which major to choose loomed large in front of us.

The Class of '63, this year led by Dick Swenson, entered its third year with new zest and enthusiasm as we pursued the fields we had chosen. Lights burned late as we dug into our specialized courses. Activities and studying paid off as the year 1961-62 witnessed many juniors being tapped into honorary fraternities and our outstanding leaders became members of Mortar Board and ODK.

At long last we entered our senior year. We assumed the positions of leadership and authority that would prepare us for the years ahead. Donning caps and gowns for Convocation, we anticipated the day when we would receive our coveted diplomas. Spring saw us engaged in social events, somewhat subdued at the prospect of doing things for the last time. June 9th dawned at last, and, for our senior class, the last four years slipped into a pleasant memory.

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS

*First Row: B. CORLEY, P. MAYHEW
Second Row: V. JONES, D. HUNTER*

Having passed the half-way mark in their college careers, the junior class is now approaching the final plateau of education. The class, as well as its individual members, is maturing with this end in view. A new constitution has been drafted to increase the efficiency of class administration by the four officers.

The 1962-63 agenda of activities includes the ever-present task of replenishing the class treasury to provide operating capital. The President's Tea is a traditional event highlighting the junior year. In addition, there is a dance with the seniors, slated for pure entertainment.

The junior class has made a smooth transition to the upperclass status and provided capable leadership to underclassmen. In these ways it has pursued the dual purpose of emphasizing its own individuality as a class, while, at the same time, performing its role in the university as a whole. Their role has also been two-fold in their own development by emphasizing both present exigencies and future objectives.

The foresighted planning and reorganization has been ably administered by the class officers, tempering the new policies with both social and academic considerations to form a well-rounded class of well-rounded individuals.

SOPHOMORE CLASS OFFICERS

Second Row: T. VAUGHAN, K.
HUTCHINSON

The class of 1965 has become an integral part of the William and Mary student body. Its class officers and dormitory representatives have actively participated in Student Government and have contributed much to the development of the new program.

Active membership in other extracurricular activities and in the social fraternities and sororities on campus help make sophomore faces familiar ones on campus. The Sophomore Class Tea at the Paschalls' home provided class members with an opportunity to get to know each other better.

The main activity of a sophomore class is the organization and direction of Freshman Due Week. The Class of 1965, having thoroughly exploited their Due Week privileges, eagerly carried out an effective program of orientation for the freshman class which proved to be quite spirited. A special committee of ten was appointed by the class president to help organize and execute the activities. One Due Week innovation which proved to be very successful was a carwash, with labor provided compliments of the freshman class. Proceeds from this activity were then submitted to the freshman class after their election of officers.

The entire week was filled with fun for all and was concluded by the Grand High Tribunal which was followed by a dance to end the class rivalry but the revelry continued good-naturedly all year.

FRESHMAN CLASS OFFICERS

*First Row: I. FREEMAN, R. BURBAGE
Second Row: A. ASKEW, G. MORGAN*

Their enthusiastic spirit and vivacity made the 1962 freshman class a welcome addition to the swelling student body. This year's class was selected from a staggering number of applicants on the basis of academic achievement and ability and general well-roundedness. They have undoubtedly measured up to their college's expectations of them.

Due Week proved to be quite an experience for the still-green freshmen. They were mercilessly accosted by sophomores who demanded oral recitations of the Priorities, songs sung from the Wren Building balcony, or the performance of stunts thought up to plague the "frolicking freshmen." Upon failing to respond correctly to the formidable upperclassmen, the frosh were subjected to "tribunals" for punishment. This year's freshmen retaliated, however. Great white '66's appeared on the grass in prominent campus spots.

November 15 saw the election of Freshman Class officers. After extensive campaigns in which numerous signs and posters decorated the trees of the campus and a rally culminated activities, the class elected its leaders. Serving as president this year was Isaac Freeman. Assisting him were Roger Burbage, vice president; Anne Askew, secretary-treasurer; and Gail Morgan, historian.

Waiting for initiation

Phi Beta Kappa, the oldest Greek-letter fraternity in the United States, was founded at the College of William and Mary on December 5, 1776. Henceforth, election to Phi Beta Kappa has been a recognition of potential for future distinction. The Greek letters PBK, the initials of the Greek motto "Love of Wisdom, the Guide of Life," are indicative of this organization's dedication to the cultivation of the intellect and insistence upon the essential dignity and rationality of man.

Initiation for new members was held on December 5, the one hundred eighty-sixth anniversary of the founding of the fraternity. After initiation there was a dinner followed by a public meeting in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Auditorium. At this meeting Judge Dorothy Kenyon spoke on constitutional law.

Spring initiates are: B. Barr, P. Brombach, J. Cochrane, B. Douglass, J. Kneen, F. Landis, H. Lloyd, J. McMillen, S. Meador, K. Miller, W. Powell, B. Sherman, P. Shumate, S. Skjei, M. Sterner, J. Tucker, D. Wood.

Pi Delta Epsilon, the national journalism fraternity, elects members twice a year from faculty, undergraduates, and alumni who have made outstanding contributions in the field of journalism. ## ORGANIZATIONS

THE STUDENT

The General Cooperative Committee is really not a part of the Student Government as it includes not only students but also faculty representatives and representatives from the administration. The student members of the Committee are the members of the Executive Council plus the editor of the Flat Hat.

This Committee, which meets once a month throughout the school year, has the power to recommend social and curricular policies to the President of the College. As the tendency to emphasize academic activities becomes greater, use of this Committee will increase.

This year has been a very crucial one for Student Government. The primary objective was to make every attempt to give essence and meaning to the new constitution. The Association's secondary objective was to promote activities and events along more academic lines and of more current interest to the college community.

The purposes of Student Government are three-fold. First, it serves as a communicating body between the student body on one side and the administration and faculty on the other. Secondly, it is a service organization, striving to promote incentive among the other campus organizations. Thirdly, the Association sponsors its own activities, such as Homecoming, Campus Chest, and Spring Finals, for the entire student body.

The new constitution clearly defines the powers and duties of the officers. Undefined officers' duties and unrealistic representation were the two greatest weaknesses of the former Student Association. Besides President Jerry Van Voorhis this year's officers were Vice President Jim Hunter and Secretary Carolyn Birch, all elected last spring.

STUDENT ASSEMBLY

First Row: C. Birch, B. Hopson, T. Paschall, D. Bright, L. Youngblood, M. Temple, R. Sigmund, B. Bowman, R. Temple, L. Ebird. Second Row: J. Van Voorhis, A. Barden, J. Liddle, L. Le Sneur, K. Davis. Fourth Row: P. Nathan, L. Stableford, R. Mooney, F. La Roche, J. Bassage, B. Holmes, B. Wolfe, B. Speer, B. Queen, J. Bennett

The Student Assembly, to which the representatives are elected, originates all student activities common to the student body. It also channels student interests and problems to the administration, and in so doing works with both the administration and the faculty in solving them.

The Assembly constitutes the legislative branch of the Student Association. Each dormitory elects one representative for every fifty residents. Day students, fraternity row, and sorority court are also represented.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL

Replacing the old Student Senate is the Executive Council. The purpose of this new executive arm of student government is to help implement the programs of the other branches. Used by the President in executing Assembly legislation, this smaller body, consisting of the presidents and vice presidents of each class, has done much to strengthen the machinery of the Student Association.

The powers of the Executive Council include originating legislation for presentation to the Assembly, vetoing legislation passed by the Assembly if necessary, and advising the president of the Student Association whenever he requests such advice.

MEN'S HONOR COUNCIL

First Row: R. Hardy, T. Bosserman, D. Flippo, B. Buckley. Second Row: C. Carlson, M. Sopchak, K. Zavitkovsky, E. Watters

TOM BOSSERMAN, Chairman

One of the primary purposes of the Men's Honor Council is to orient the incoming freshman men to the Honor System. William and Mary's Honor System, established in 1779, is one of the most cherished priorities of the College.

Every William and Mary student must pledge that he will neither cheat, steal, lie, nor tolerate this behavior in any of his fellow students. The essence of the system is individual responsibility. The Honor System works well, and improved attitude by the student body has given it greater support than in previous years.

The main duty of this student-administered council is to investigate honor offenses involving men students and conduct trials when necessary. In addition, the Men's Honor Council helps in handling all campus elections every year.

The Honor Council affords excellent first-hand experience in democratic judicial procedure. The testimonies are heard and the verdicts are issued by the members themselves.

Tom Bosserman is the chairman of the Men's Honor Council this year. Other members include: Seniors, Karl Zavitkovsky and Dean Flippo, vice chairmen; Juniors, Roger Hardy, secretary, Bob Buckley, and Ed Waters; Sophomores, Craig Carlson, and Mike Sopchak.

WOMEN'S HONOR COUNCIL

First Row: K. Back, B. Barr, P. Pound, J. Hall. Second Row: K. Wiese, S. Roberts, B. Chiles, T. Paschall

This year, for the first time, the Women's Honor Council existed as an independent organization. Previously, the Council was one of the three branches of the Women Students Cooperative Government Association. However, due to the dissolution of WSCGA in the spring of 1962, this year's Council was able to function in a position comparable to that of the Men's Council.

The Honor Councils consist of sixteen members duly elected by the student body for the administration of the Honor System. During Orientation Week, the Councils held meetings with incoming students to help them become familiar with the organization and procedures of the Honor System. The Councils also supervised the signing of the Pledge Cards by new students.

The Women's Honor Council gave dormitory talks before exam periods to remind the women students of the great responsibility they assume along with the privilege of taking final examinations under the Honor System.

This year the members of the Women's Honor Council were: Patti Pound, chairman; Judy Hall, vice chairman; Karen Back, secretary; Bonnie Barr, senior representative; Beth Chiles and Tish Paschall, junior representatives; and Susan Roberts and Kathie Wiese, sophomore representatives.

WOMEN'S DORMITORY

This year at William and Mary there is a new form of women's student government. Replacing the Women Students' Cooperative Government Association is the Women's Dormitory Association. This new system uses representatives from the dorms instead of representatives chosen from the different classes.

In the words of the Women's Dormitory Association's Constitution, the purpose of the Association is "to represent and further the best interests of the women students, to regulate their conduct under the authority of the College, and to promote responsibility and a high sense of honor."

Each woman student at William and Mary who lives in a dormitory becomes a member of the Association upon matriculation as a student at William and Mary.

The Women's Dormitory Association consists of a Dormitory Council, including the President, Vice President, Secretary, and Treasurer of the WDA, and the president of each dorm—including Ludwell house presidents and sorority house presidents. Formerly this Council also included representatives from the different classes. In addition there are individual House Councils in each dorm. The Council consists of the House President, Vice President, Secretary-Treasurer, and the hall proctors. In the sorority houses the House President assumes the duties of all offices.

Under the Dormitory Council all the official business of the Association is handled. This Council also works in coordination with the Faculty Advisory Committee, consisting of the Dean of Women, and a woman faculty member.

In addition, it is the duty of this Council to keep all women students informed about WDA activities, sponsor an annual tea for housemothers, and assume responsibility for the formation of social rules, unless otherwise provided for by the administration.

The House Council enforces all the social and house rules within the individual dormitories. The house president must supervise the conduct in her dormitory and preside over house meetings.

Other functions of the Women's Dormitory Association include participation in the orientation program of the College; planning and coordinating the Summer School Women's Student Government; cooperating with the College Administration in selecting sponsors and Ludwell house presidents; and sponsorship of various social functions, such as the Christmas Wassail.

DORMITORY COUNCIL

The Women's Dormitory Council, which consists of the President, Vice President, Secretary, and Treasurer of the WDA, and the presidents of each dorm, handles all of the official business of the Association. In addition it considers and acts upon such problems as pertain to the welfare of the women students.

The Council is responsible for the formation of the social rules and upholding and maintaining the good conduct of the women of William and Mary. The Council deals with those cases reported to it and gives penalties in proportion to the offenses.

HOUSE COUNCIL

The individual House Councils consist of the House President, Vice President, Secretary-Treasurer, and the hall proctors.

This council enforces the social and house rules by means as are found necessary. Repeated violations are referred to the Dormitory Council.

The individual house presidents supervise all conduct in the dormitories and preside over dormitory meetings. The house vice president handles such things as arranging desk duty, dorm elections, and fire drills.

PRESIDENT'S AIDES

Each fall, thirteen students are awarded a gold medal, engraved with the College Seal and designed by John Stewart Bryan in 1935, when they are named as President's Aides by W. M. Jones, Dean of Faculty. The medal is a symbol of honor for those students whose offices in student affairs have elevated them to distinction.

By virtue of their positions, the following are automatically appointed: President of the Student Body, Presidents of the Junior and Senior Classes, Chairmen of the Men's and Women's Honor Councils, President of WDA, Chairmen of the Judicial Council, President of ODK, President of Mortar Board, and Editor-in-Chief of the Flat Hat. In addition, the President and his wife select two additional students outstanding in student life as members-at-large.

The group's duties range from serving as guides to distinguished campus visitors to serving as hosts and hostesses at the President's receptions. In addition, they comprise part of the official party at Convocations. They walk with the President following the Mace and are seated with him on stage.

Yet their duties are dual in that they serve as representatives of the student body in periodic discussion of campus problems and objectives while, at the same time, serving the administration.

ORIENTATION SPONSORS

Head Orientation Sponsors: TOM BOSSERMAN, JOEY KRIDER

Each year Orientation Week is set aside for the purpose of acquainting the new freshmen with college life. Sponsors and group leaders, chosen on the basis of leadership, scholarship, and character, guide the freshmen through this week and throughout the remainder of the year.

Last spring the sponsors attended a meeting at which their responsibilities and duties were explained. This year, however, the training program was held in the fall instead of the spring. The sponsors and group leaders returned to school a day before the freshmen arrived. The effectiveness of this plan was evident after the completion of a smooth and inspiring Orientation Week.

Each sponsor was assigned a group of five to eight freshmen. In addition to conducting a large part of the testing program, the sponsor led his group to various receptions, meetings, speeches, and other activities. This year the Orientation program placed stress on the fact that the sponsor's job should be carried out for the whole year, rather than just during Orientation Week.

Serving as head sponsor for freshman women was Joey Krider. Tom Bosserman, head group leader for freshman men, was assisted by Bill Cleveland.

STUDENT PUBLICATIONS COMMITTEE

R. Neuroth, W. Thach, J. Lee, A. Kallos, H. Sizemore, C. McCulley

This committee, serving as the coordinating body for campus publications, holds as its primary objective the maintenance of high standards of journalistic endeavor. At its bi-monthly meetings the committee discusses particular questions and problems which may arise with regard to any of the three College publications—The Flat Hat, the COLONIAL ECHO, and the William and Mary Review. This year the Committee is composed of H. Mason Sizemore, editor of the Flat Hat; Rhea Neuroth, editor of the COLONIAL ECHO; and Joan Lee, editor of the William and Mary Review. In addition to the three editors, a chairman is appointed by the President of the Student Association and approved by the Student Assembly. Also serving on the Committee is Jerry Van Voorhis, Student Body President. This year's faculty advisors for the Committee are Dr. Cecil M. McCulley, elected by the Student Activity Fee Committee, and Dr. Alexander Kallos, selected by the Committee itself.

Though the Committee as a whole acts in attempting to solve particular difficulties and to coordinate individual efforts, the final authority on any matter concerning a publication rests with its editor. Thus, while maintaining full authority, each editor benefits from the guidance and suggestions of the group.

Springtime is a particularly busy season for the Committee. During this time, each editor nominates a successor for his or her position and presents the nomination to the Committee for approval. In this matter, the Committee possesses final authority. Also elected by the Committee at this time are the business managers for the COLONIAL ECHO and the Flat Hat.

During these months also, the Committee, in conjunction with Pi Delta Epsilon, the honorary journalism fraternity, plans the Publications Banquet which is held in late April. This event is marked by the presentation of awards to students making outstanding contributions in the field of journalism, and by the announcement of both Miss William and Mary and the COLONIAL ECHO dedicatee.

Officers of the Student Publications Committee for this year were: Bill Thach, chairman and Rhea Neuroth, secretary.

To serve as a pictorial and literary history of campus life at William and Mary is the specific purpose of the COLONIAL ECHO, and the one toward which the staff directs all of its endeavors throughout the year. Under Editor-in-Chief Rhea Neuroth and her capable Editorial Board and Junior Editors, the COLONIAL ECHO gradually takes form.

The arduous task of publishing the COLONIAL ECHO begins the preceding summer. Pages are drawn up, pictures are planned, the cover is designed, and finally, following many conferences and much correspondence between the editor and the printer, the "dummy" arrives at the COLONIAL ECHO office. Then the entire staff coordinate their time and efforts in order to meet the necessary deadlines. Each Junior Editor is delegated with the responsibility of one particular phase of the entire whole. Each division has its own staff headed by a Junior Editor. Organization of this kind, with the Editor-in-Chief as coordinator, leads to effective operation by the entire staff.

FLAT HAT

H. MASON SIZEMORE
Editor-in-Chief

Coordinating the Flat Hat in its vital function of keeping students and faculty informed about various campus activities was Editor H. Mason Sizemore. The addition of a sports column and a new political column this year provided for more efficient coverage of news in which the college community has a great interest.

The Flat Hat provides a medium through which students and faculty can voice an opinion on public issues relating to international, national, or local news in addition to local campus affairs. Several controversial issues were debated in the Flat Hat this year through the Letters to the Editor column. Thus, the Flat Hat, in addition to serving as a unifying link for all aspects of campus life, continues in its tradition of functioning as the actual voice of the campus.

Sizemore was assisted in his endeavors by Bucky Riegelman, Managing Editor; and Cathy Day and Pete Crow, Associate Editors. Kay Burdett was News Editor; Nancy Hahn, Typing Editor; Bobbi McDermott, Feature Editor; Bill Black, Copy Editor; Jennie Beary, Make-up Editor; Jan Sassaman, Photography Editor; Gordon Pehrson, Business Manager; Sammy Sadler, Advertising Manager; Dianna Weisbrod, Exchange Editor; and Carter Finn, Circulation Manager. Assisting in research and coordinating policy were the Editorial Associates Mary Beth Anderson, Mike Flattery, and Glen McCaskey.

During the weekend of October 25-27, 1962, the Flat Hat formally received two awards at the annual Associated Collegiate Press convention in Detroit. The first award was the All American rating presented to top college newspapers. This is the sixth consecutive semester that the Flat Hat has received such an honor. The Pacemaker Award was also presented to the Flat Hat as one of the top five college newspapers in the United States.

Such awards reflect the Flat Hat's distinctly outstanding qualities of writing and composition, in addition to its complete wide-range news coverage.

THE WILLIAM AND MARY REVIEW

C. LAWVER . . . Managing Editor
JOAN LEE . . . Editor-in-Chief

The William and Mary Review was published for the first time in 1962-63, in an attempt to recognize and stimulate original literary and artistic activity on the campus. The magazine, formed by a combination of Royalist, former William and Mary literary magazine, and Seminar, an academic journal published at the College, issued two volumes during the year. Contents of the Review included short stories, poetry, essays, and guest editorials, as well as photography and art work, contributed by members of both faculty and student body.

During the fall semester the Review was headed by Joan Lee, editor, Bruce Heckman, managing editor, and Michael Hodges, business manager. Members of the editorial board were Randy Fazar, Peter Gyfteas, Charles Lawver, Nancy Mahoney, Louis Platt, Valerie Simms, Walter Talmage, and Bill Thach. Ranny Spencer served as art editor, Glen McCaskey as photography editor, and copy staff members Judy Beers, Pat McLeod, Jackie Murphy, Sarah Trenholm, and Judy Williams.

In the spring a reorganization of the staff brought in George Dyer as business manager of the Review, and added to the editorial board Paul Christensen, Lloyd Collins and Calvin West. Charles Lawver became managing editor for the spring semester.

Advisors to William and Mary Review were Mr. David C. Jenkins and Mrs. James A. Services.

WCWM

BOB STEWART, Head Announcer

On November 17, 1959, WCWM, the College radio station, was granted its final license, culminating the long period of time involved in establishing the college station.

In September, 1958, the College appropriated money with the idea of establishing a broadcasting station and Mr. Charles W. Woodliff, Director of Audio-Visual Education and Assistant Professor of Fine Arts was appointed supervisor. The first two projects were to conform the equipment to standards and to apply for permission to build a station from the Federal Communications Commission. The first permission was granted in April, 1959, and the station went on the air during the summer on an experimental basis. After the program testing period, inspection, and installation approval, the final license application was made in September, 1959.

From 4:00 to 10:30 p. m. nightly WCWM broadcasts through the efforts of approximately fifty students working from one to fifteen hours weekly. The WCWM staff selects music which will bring pleasure to the entire listening audience, townspeople as well as college students. The various musical programs include jazz, popular music, folk singing, and classical music.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE

The Campus Center Faculty and Staff Advisory Committee is under the leadership of Peter Derks of the Psychology Department who serves as chairman of the group. Other members of the Committee include Russell Hastings of the Fine Arts Department; Charles D. Davidson of the English Department; Miss Elizabeth Morrow, Assistant Dean of Women; and Mr. J. S. Sturgell, Director of the Student Center.

The function of this Advisory Committee is to implement the work of the student committees. It provides assistance and serves in an advisory capacity concerning such matters as program planning; recommendations for educational materials such as records, games, magazines and paperback books; and the scheduling of functions and use of the rooms.

CAMPUS CENTER

PUBLICITY COMMITTEE

The Student Center Publicity Committee with Gail Oakey and Betty Boman as co-chairmen, keeps the Student Body up-to-date on tournaments, displays, movies and any other Campus Center activity.

Among the displays which the Campus Center Publicity Committee has worked on this year are the collection of paintings by Virginia artists, entitled Virginia by Virginians; and a collection of oils by Genia and Oehikubu. A major job of the Committee is the weekly review of the current Sunday night "flicks". The committee also reviews the Foreign Film Series which is a Campus Center attraction.

This year the Publicity Committee has worked on preparation of a brochure on the Campus Center which would be a guide to the Center's facilities and which could be mailed to incoming students as well as presented to the Student Body.

The committee work serves as a vital link between the Center management and the Student Body.

GAMES & FILM COMMITTEE

The Film Committee and the Games Committee, under the student direction of John Sale and Scott Ferguson, respectively, like all of the Student Center Committees are under the supervision of Eric Erdossy, chief student advisor for all of the groups. The Film Committee works with Mr. Sturgell and the Faculty Advisory Committee on the Sunday flicks, which have drawn an amazing attendance this year; the Foreign Film Festival, brought to William and Mary every spring under the auspices of the Student Center; and the exam week cartoons. The Games Committee is instrumental in organizing the Intercollegiate Bridge Tournament, the Chess Club, and the Bridge Club. Under the jurisdiction of this Committee also is the game area downstairs in the Student Center.

COMMITTEES

ART & POSTER COMMITTEE

The Campus Center Art and Poster Committee has as its main function the selection of exhibits and announcements to be placed in the lobby of the Student Center. In the spring plans are made for art exhibits for the following school year. The selections are loaned by various art and cultural centers, usually for a month at a time. The art work includes woodcuts, photography, serafitto, and artists' works.

Another function of the Committee is to decorate the lobby for Christmas, Easter, Halloween, and other festive occasions.

The Poster Shop is under the auspices of the Art and Poster Committee. Any student desiring posters to be made have them made for a slight fee which covers the necessary materials.

The committee itself is made up of students who have volunteered their services under the leadership of Kay Bonner, chairman, and the faculty advisor, Mr. J. S. Sturgell, director of the Student Center.

WILLIAM AND

The William and Mary Theatre, in its thirty-seventh season, produced and presented four superior plays for campus and community enjoyment. Tryouts for the productions were open to all students interested in acting as a profession, or simply for the thrill of stage lights. In any event, the result of the competitive process yielded the best qualified participants for the public performances.

The Visit, an intense tragicomedy by Friedrich Dürrenmatt, opened the 1962-63 season. The theme was universal corruption, effectively symbolized not only in the townspeople's rationalization of murder, but also in costume design and stage setting.

Dylan Thomas' play Under Milk Wood consisted of soul-searching character portrayals enacted by a cast of only twelve actors. Such a presentation proved a challenging enterprise for the members of the William and Mary Theatre, for the play was originally written for a radio broadcast and had to be adapted for the theatre.

The last two plays, the Three Penny Opera and The Shoemaker's Holiday, were both humorous and entertaining comedies. The latter, presented instead of the customary Shakespearean drama, was a classical comedy written by Thomas Dekker, a contemporary of Shakespeare.

The Visit: Schill on trial

The Visit: Deceit in the chapel

MARY THEATRE

The play itself depicts the classes of London society ranging from the lowly apprentice to the noble king.

Before each play was presented, an informal group met to discuss the background and content of the play. Alexander Kallos highlighted scenes from The Visit; David Jenkins spoke on Under Milk Wood; Donald Kendall led a discussion on Three Penny Opera; Donald Nunes outlined The Shoemaker's Holiday. A post-dramatic evaluation of each play and the quality of its presentation gave special emphasis to audience participation.

Although the plays are essentially student-performed and -produced, such a roster of outstanding performances could not have been pursued without the coordinating assistance of Mr. Howard Seammon, Director; Mr. Frank Staroba, Playwright; Russell Hastings, Designer; and Mr. Albert Haak, Technician.

The William and Mary Theatre sponsored the Canadian Players Foundation production of Arms and the Man. It marked the professional touring company's fourth appearance in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall, "the best equipped non-professional theatre in the world." Though Arms and the Man was written by George Bernard Shaw in 1894, the play dealt with the timeless themes of war and love.

BACKDROP CLUB

The Backdrop Club at William and Mary, now in its twenty-sixth year, devotes its combined time, talents, and energy to the annual production of a musical comedy. The production given by the club is completely the work of the students. They manage to direct, produce, and act in the plays completely unassisted by faculty or professional aid. Thus, the Backdrop Club remains one of the most active organizations on the William and Mary campus.

This year's production was "Bye Bye Birdie"

by Michael Stewart. The plot concerns an Elvis-Presleyish crooner and his shrieking teen-age worshippers. The play is heightened by love interest and amusing road blocks to the altar. The lightness and infectious bounce of the play made it readily adaptable for Backdrop Club production. The play was directed by Denny Bing.

Officers were: Toby Sindt, president; Judy Davis, treasurer; Cynthia Moore, secretary; and Denny Bing, student director.

WILLIAM AND

"PAPPY" FEHR

In its seventeenth year at the College of William and Mary, the Choir this season again completed another series of successful and artistic concert programs. Under the very able direction of Dr. Carl A. Fehr, who has been with the Choir since 1945, the group maintained the standard of virtuosity and excellence which has merited a reputation national in scope.

Sensing the talented potential of the Choir in the fall of the year, Dr. "Pappy" Fehr worked hard to develop this potential into the greatest degree of artistic perfection possible. He did so by striving to create a sense of group accomplishment within the Choir. Such an effort required many hours of practice and a constant and exacting discipline of each member of the group. The rewards of the Choir's devotion to a standard of fine musicianship were evidenced in the many outstanding public performances by the Choir during the year.

The Choir formally opened its 1962-1963 season with the traditional concert of Christmas anthems, lullabies, and carols. Dr. Fehr generally selects a rather lengthy musical work to highlight the concert and then completes the program with shorter compositions, many of which are in the modern vein. This year's lengthy piece was the "Messe de Minuit sur des Airs de Noel" by a 17th century French composer, Marc Antoine Charpentier. Among the shorter works were songs by composers such as Sitton, Praetorius, and Dello Joio. The program was concluded by a sequence of old and familiar carols which have such great appeal during the Christmas season.

MARY CHOIR

In selecting the concert music, Dr. Fehr's aim is to present to the College and community music of superior quality which most people do not often have the opportunity to hear and appreciate. Many of his selections are by contemporary composers whom he feels are making valuable contributions to the musical arts today. The Spring Concert was highlighted by the work of a contemporary composer, Aaron Copland, who created an unusual sounding musical account of the Creation as recorded in Genesis. Other composers included in the program were Palestrina, Schuetz, Berger, and Robertson.

Other activities on the Choir's schedule included performances at the Opening and Charter Day Convocations. Shortly after spring vacation, forty members of the Choir were selected on a competitive basis to represent the College on a concert tour which covered various sections of Virginia including Lynchburg, Waynesboro, and the Washington area. Later in the spring, the annual series of outdoor concerts found the Choir, accompanied by the William and Mary Band and Chorus, in weekly performances in the Wren Building courtyard.

The members of the Choir enjoy getting together for sociable occasions during the year. Such events as the Christmas party following the concert in December and the annual Officers' Banquet in the spring provided such welcomed opportunities.

Practice session

Lyrical strains echoing over the green lawns and brick sidewalks of the campus on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons may be recognized as the combined voices of fifty or sixty girls who compose the renowned William and Mary Girls' Chorus.

One of the outstanding musically oriented groups on campus, the Chorus is under the able direction of Dr. Carl A. "Pappy" Fehr. The girls were selected in the fall by audition according to their ability and interest in vocal music.

These talented young ladies played a significant role in increasing the cultural activities and opportunities on campus through their participation in the annual Christmas Concert, the Spring Concert, and their outdoor concerts in the spring. The Christmas Concert, under the joint sponsorship of the Chorus and the Choir, transformed our ultra-modern Phi Beta Kappa Hall into a Christmas card atmosphere echoing with traditional carols and holiday songs. The theme this year was Charpentier's "Midnight Mass." The Chorus climaxed the evening with the strains of "A Ceremony of Carols" composed by Britten.

The words of this medley of songs dealing with the Infant Jesus are mostly Middle English.

The Spring Concert on May 3 and 4 again delighted the campus with its religious theme. The outdoor concerts on the Wren Lawn were held the last three Wednesdays of the spring semester, May 8, 15, and 22.

The girls' selections of music are quite varied and include religious and classical numbers on the heavier side and lighter popular and folk songs. The programs are arranged to include a variety of types of music and to be enjoyable to the many different tastes of the audiences before whom the girls perform.

The members give a great deal of their time and effort to make the Chorus a rewarding experience for all of its audiences. Their effort is rewarded by the sincere appreciation of the college community for the Chorus' outstanding performances. Most important is the fact that each girl has within herself the personal satisfaction of performing actively under the auspices of an excellent organization—the William and Mary Girls' Chorus.

WILLIAM AND MARY BAND

Precision drills during the downfield march highlighted the performances of the William and Mary Indian marching band in its football game shows this fall. Band shows are planned around a musical theme. This year for Homecoming Weekend a "Name Band Review" spotlighted the famous bands which had appeared at the college in previous years. Another week a novelty skit "Evolution of the College Bandsman" traced Junior and his trumpet from the cradle to an honored spot in the Indian band.

Now the brilliant green and gold uniforms of the marching season have been stored away and formal dress is the fashion for the band as it prepares for concert season.

Plans for the concert band include a spring formal concert at Phi Beta Kappa Hall on April 25th, and a spring concert tour. Leaving the good old Southland, the band will travel northward, playing concerts in northern Virginia, Delaware and New Jersey. This trip is intended to be of interest, enjoyment and educational value to the band members. They will have an opportunity on this trip to stay in New York City and enjoy some of its cultural and educational benefits.

The annual informal concerts in the Wren Courtyard will be held on the last three Wednesdays of the spring semester, May 8, 15 and 27. In these performances the band will join the chorus and choir in providing an enjoyable and relaxing study break to ease the tensions of impending final exams.

A variety of musical styles will be played by the concert band this year. Heavier numbers will include "Marche Slave" and "Russian Sailor's Dance." In a lighter mood are selections from "West Side Story" and "Exodus." The styles of music performed at each of the concerts will be chosen to bring the most enjoyment to the particular audience being played for.

Mr. Charles R. Varner, a graduate of Northwestern University, is in his 9th year as director of the William and Mary band. Under his able direction the band has grown and developed throughout this period. Every year due to his diligent efforts, firm instructions and sound guidance, the organization increases its quality of performance. Mr. Varner works tirelessly to make William and Mary proud of its band, and he is admired and respected by all the musicians who are members of the Indian marching and concert band.

Aiding Mr. Varner as band managers for 1962-63 are Robert Lent and Leon Bly.

INTERCOLLEGIATE DEBATE COUNCIL

The Intercollegiate Debate Council of the College of William and Mary is a member of a national system of similar college and university forensic councils and organizations. An important college activity, the Debate Council, through its tournaments, offers the only intercollegiate academic competition. The members also receive the valuable opportunity to gain a deeper knowledge of current events and public speaking experience.

All debates this season were based upon the question—“Resolved: The non-communist nations of the world should establish an economic community.” This resolution was decided upon last year at a meeting of representatives from each of the active schools, to insure that all debates be of the same nature.

Early in the fall the Council members began their extensive preparations for the national topic. The debaters are chosen on their ability to express themselves clearly and intelligently, and their proficiency at public speaking. With their first tournament in October, the students spent much time and effort in their preparations. They did research on the current subject and wrote to outside sources for further information. To insure a better delivery they constantly revised and practiced their speeches. The subject remains unchanged throughout the year.

The members of the teams are partitioned into several two-man teams, which compete with similarly-constructed teams from other participating schools. About one-half of the teams from each college debate the affirmative side of the question, while the other half defends the negative standpoint. Throughout the season the members debated in numerous contests, college tournaments, and individual tournaments.

The College's Debate Council first participated in a freshman tournament at Wake Forest College in Winston-Salem, N. C. The following weekend the team traveled to the St. Joseph's College Tournament in Philadelphia. Other contests on the fall schedule included Washington and Lee University, the University of South Carolina, New York University, Dartmouth, the Tufts University Tournament in Boston, and the Dixie Classics Tournament in Winston-Salem. The season's schedule consisted of fifteen trips in all. Culminating the year was the Marshall-Wythe Debating Tournament held at the College in February. William and Mary was host to twenty-five schools.

This year the officers were: pres ident, Tony Steinmeyer; secretary, Susan Levine; and debate coach, Glen Kirk. Professor David McConkey was director of forensics.

The Student Education Association, the student branch of the National Education Association, is the professional organization for the college and university students planning to teach in high school and elementary school. Each college charter functions under the auspices of national and state organizations.

The purposes of this organization are to interest capable students in teaching as a career, to encourage higher standards for the selection and guidance of teachers, and through higher standards of preparation in disseminating information to contribute to a reasonable balance in teacher supply and demand. By introducing the members to professional associations and providing an opportunity to support the policies and programs of these groups on local, state, and national levels, the chapter serves the needs and interests of the members. The students are encouraged to study professional problems and standards which will help them in developing the leadership and cooperation necessary for improving the schools and the community.

The group was led this year by Julie Kneen, President; Carolyn Birch, Vice President; Dottie Shaw, Secretary; Susanne Kibler, Treasurer; Pat Thomas, Membership Chairman; and Dr. Richard Copeland, Advisor. Speakers throughout the year have discussed such topics as state accreditation, job opportunities, how to write job-application letters, interviews with school superintendents, the most difficult aspects during the first teaching year, and the need for teachers in the various fields. Panel discussions between student teachers and supervising teachers concerning the various aspects of practice teaching were of benefit to the members, as were talks by school superintendents who outlined the qualifications they looked for in new teachers. Refreshments were served after meetings, affording the members an opportunity to speak informally with the guest lecturer.

Membership in the Association is open to all students who are interested in the teaching profession. All members receive the monthly publications of the National Education Association and the Virginia Education Association. The NEA Journal acquaints the students with some of the problems they will encounter and some of the latest teaching methods which they may incorporate into their own future teaching programs. Each spring, an annual banquet is held at which the officers for the coming year are installed and a speaker discusses one of the phases of the teaching profession.

The William and Mary Chapter of the Student Education Association was represented at the Virginia State Convention this fall where Jean Birdsong was elected Member-at-large. For the past three years members of the William and Mary Chapter have held state offices.

On July 1, 1947, a unit of the Reserve Officers Training Corps was established at William and Mary. Its purpose is to train students for positions of leadership in time of national emergency. Since 1954 the training has covered artillery courses as well as those on general military science.

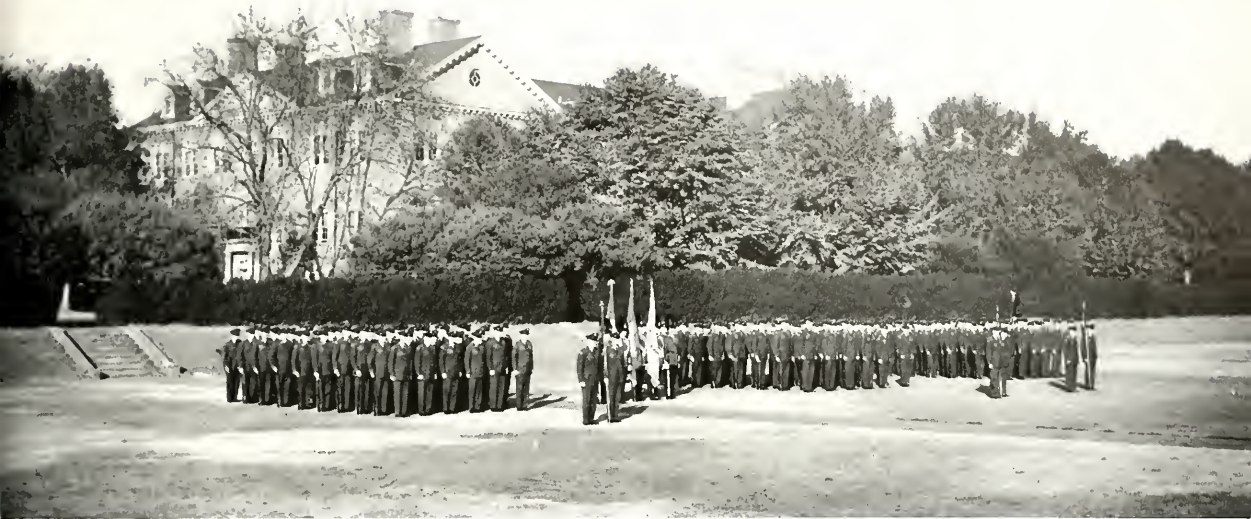

The four-year college program is divided into two phases, each lasting two years. The basic course is only for freshmen and sophomores, and the more advanced course is for juniors and seniors. The beginning course covers training in map reading and aerial photography, small arms, introduction to basic tactics, courses in American history and National Security, and drill practices. The advanced course includes orientation to the Army's different branches, instruction in logistics and military law, orientation to the United States' world position and the position of the Army in international relations.

During the summer following their third year in the Corps, the cadets spend six weeks at the Fort Bragg, North Carolina summer camp. At this field laboratory for military tactics, the cadets are acquainted with bivouacs, map problems, field exercises, and operation of law equipment.

Upon graduation, the four-year cadet is eligible for a commission as a Second Lieutenant in the United States Army.

The staff officers are chosen on a basis of their summer camp ratings, camp activities, and R.O.T.C. records. This year Cadet Lieutenant Colonel Thomas Richardson commanded the Corps. The other members of the staff included: Cadet Major Deau Flippo, Executive Officer; Cadet Captain Jeffrey Allen,

TRAINING CORPS

S-1 of the Battalion; Cadet First Lieutenant Glen McCaskey, Intelligence Officer; Cadet Major Oliver Roper, Cadet Second Lieutenant Larry Simpson, and Cadet Anthony Steinmeyer.

President Paschall approved the organization of the Queen's Guard on February 8, 1961. Since then the group has brought the College national and international recognition. This special drill group is named the Queen's Guard in recognition of the favor shown the College by Queen Mary II, Queen Anne, and Queen Elizabeth II.

The Queen's Guard is composed of about sixty cadets. It has a color guard and a drum and bugle corps. Dressed in their black sealskin Grenadier's Caps, scarlet tunics, black trousers, and white gloves, the Queen's Guard always makes a striking appearance. Neil Fridenstein commanded the group this year.

The William and Mary system was one of the five college systems which, this year, served as part of the United States Military Assistance Program in the training of foreign personnel. Early in the academic year two officers of the Indonesian Army came to observe the William and Mary training program.

Each spring the Corps holds a gala military ball. Here the R.O.T.C. Queen is crowned.

The R.O.T.C. year ends with the change of command. Awards for the year are given at the final review in late May.

Over the past several years the R.O.T.C. branch here has received the highest possible Army ratings and has far exceeded the Army's quota and standard of excellence.

MEN'S DORMITORY ASSOCIATION

The organization of each men's residence hall is an entity composed of two distinct units: the supervisory personnel and the dormitory council.

Each dormitory is under the direct supervision of a Resident Counselor, a graduate student under contract to the College. The Resident Counselor maintains order and proper conduct, serves as counselor to the men, supervises the work of the dormitory managers, serves as advisor to the dormitory council, and advises the Dean of Men on all matters concerning the general welfare of students in his dormitory.

One or more undergraduate dormitory managers are appointed to each hall. They maintain order, report on needed repairs, and serve as ex-officio members of the dormitory council.

The dormitory council, consisting of a president, representatives, and the supervisory personnel, has as its purpose sharing the responsibility of directing life in the residence hall for the general welfare of the residents and assisting with the organization of intramural athletic and dormitory social functions.

GERMAN CLUB

"We shall stand for the tolerance of Lessing, the wisdom of Goethe, and the idealism of Schiller." This is the motto of the German Club, which strives to promote interest in the German culture and language.

The club's activities and programs for the year have varied. At one meeting films from the German embassy were shown to the members, and at another meeting in the fall there was a guest speaker from the Swiss embassy. One of the major events of the German club was its beach party, which was held in cooperation with some of the other language clubs. Interest in the German way of life was stirred by dancing to German folk songs.

In charge of the club's activities for the '62-'63 session were Cathy Miller and Eliza Gray, co-chairmen. They were assisted by Nancy Engel, the secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Barry was the faculty advisor for the German Club this year.

First Row: N. Engel, H. Berry, E. Gray, K. Miller, C. Steiner. Second Row: N. Rudolph, J. Stern, P. Creekman, C. Stoneman, B. Engel, L. Lawrence

SPANISH CLUB

Many varied and interesting activities captivated members of the Spanish Club this year. Included in the 1962-63 agenda were programs of slides, movies, and talks highlighting many new facets of Hispanic culture, history, and travel. For the less serious-minded there was ample opportunity to converse in Spanish informally with native Latin American members.

Variety certainly sparked the monthly meetings with topics ranging from picnics to poetry to the annual pinata party. Club members were particularly enthusiastic at the appearance of Carlos Montoya, famed flamenco guitarist who performed in Phi Beta Kappa Hall this past January. A note of service was injected in the year's activities, when the club cooperated with Sigma Delta Pi in hosting a regional convention of the Spanish professors. Responsible for the lively year and the lively club were officers Zeke Topping, president; Felicia Landis, vice president; Judy Clark, program director; Eugene deAnzorena, secretary; and Jeanne Campbell, treasurer.

FRENCH CLUB

The French Club was organized at William and Mary to further the appreciation of the French language and culture. Informality was the keynote this year as members of the club met monthly to enjoy movies, slides, or faculty and student talks in or about French. Special activities for the year included an annual French Christmas program and a Mardi Gras Festival.

Any student enrolled in a French course is eligible to join the organization. The students join together to form an atmosphere of simulated French "gaiety" and, simultaneously, one of seriousness and sincere interest in learning more about the French people, their language, and their culture.

Officers for the 1962-63 session were: Gretchen Scherer, president; Polly Mayhew, vice president; and Evaline Hensley, secretary-treasurer. Miss Jean Scammon served as advisor for the group.

SOCIOLOGY CLUB

Affording members an opportunity to investigate sociological problems and to discuss current topics of interest in the fields of sociology, politics, and economics are the chief purposes of the Sociology Club.

By enabling students to discuss and analyze their own ideas as well as those of their classmates or someone else, the club serves as one of the many outlets which exist on the campus for the student who wishes to explore a field more deeply through extracurricular means. Although composed primarily of sociology majors, any student interested in furthering his knowledge of sociology and of current social problems of the world is invited to seek membership.

Officers for the year were Richard Rutherford, president; Fran McCampbell, vice president; and Penny Stenbo, secretary.

First Row: F. McCampbell, R. Rutherford, P. Stenbo. Second Row: E. Abbott, K. Bonner, R. Burchell, B. Beaumont

PSYCHOLOGY CLUB

The Psychology Club meets twice monthly, usually attempting a joint meeting with another club. This is done because the members feel that psychology overlaps in the fields of medicine, biology, chemistry, physics, and several other areas. The club attempts to stimulate a broad interest in every field of psychology with the orientation toward the application of philosophy and other sciences. The interest is stimulated, not only through regular meetings, but also through encouraging the members to do research work on the subject. All psychology graduate students are honorary members and are very useful in helping the undergraduate students. The programs are designed to broaden the students' understanding and, thus, are different from the regular classroom routine.

Officers for the past year were Fran Marshall, president; Linda Elliott, vice president; Bonnie Miller, secretary; and Beth Blackwell, treasurer. Dr. Stanley Williams served as advisor for the group.

First Row: L. Walker, R. Willbur, A. Duke, C. Watts, B. Miller, F. Marshall, M. B. Anderson, N. Mahoney, B. Winn. Second Row: B. Bryant, D. Wilkins, D. Dyer, K. David, R. Henderson, J. Dooley, Y. ## CHEMISTRY CLUB

The Chemistry Club, formally the William and Mary Chapter of Student Affiliates of the American Chemical Society, affords students an opportunity to become acquainted with chemistry. Members are designated as affiliates or associates. Affiliates are those students in the two hundred courses or higher, and Associates are those registered in other science courses who wish to participate. Affiliates are members of the American Chemical Society and are subject to special advantages through their affiliation. Upon graduation they have the chance to become members of the Society.

The Club meets every Monday at which time talks and movies provide information on various phases of chemistry. Chemists from outside organizations, faculty members, and students provide interesting and informative lectures. Annual events usually include picnics in the spring and fall. Lydia Smith Salmon succeeded as president for the 1962-1963 session, and Dr. Joseph T. Zung advised the group.

CLAYTON-GRIMES BIOLOGICAL CLUB

The Clayton-Grimes Biological Club has afforded its members the opportunity to become better acquainted with the fields of biological science and medicine through extracurricular activities. The membership is largely composed of students desiring careers in biology and medicine.

The club has meetings each month. For the program of one meeting the club features a speaker, usually one who is working on a nearby research program. For the next meeting, the program centers on an educational film relating to biological science. One of the major functions of the club is to organize field trips for its members, often in the spring of the year. Such field trips usually involve a hike through a state park to observe various forms of nature.

The officers in charge of the club's functions include: Carl Hacker, president; Sally Long, vice president; Margaret Fisher, secretary; and Tom Eanes, treasurer. Dr. Mitchell Byrd and Dr. Rogers Byrd are the faculty advisors for the year.

First Row: G. West, M. Fisher, C. Hacker, S. Long, S. Christie. Second Row: M. Hancock, D. Barley, R. Jones, R. Byrd. Third Row: M. Byrd, B. Garriss, B. Welch, B. Flemming

PHYSICAL EDUCATION MAJORS CLUB

Students of William and Mary are afforded the opportunity to become better acquainted with the facilities and programs of health, physical education, and recreation through the Physical Education Majors Club. Effort is made in this organization to increase knowledge and understanding of skills, techniques, and standards of teaching of physical education through lectures, discussions, and various other programs concerning this field. The members strive to promote greater interaction between the many phases of physical education, the students and faculty. Officers of the club this year were: Barry Grantier, president; Ronald Jones, vice president; Steve Bishop, program chairman; and Buddy Childress, treasurer.

YOUNG REPUBLICANS CLUB

Through group discussions, conventions, and working for party candidates, the Young Republicans Club seeks to stir interest in politics and promote a general understanding of what the Republican Party stands for.

This year a representative from the American Medical Association spoke on the Kennedy Medicare bill. In addition, Dr. Louis Williams, Republican candidate for Congress from Virginia's third congressional district, spoke to the club on the question "Where Do We Go From Here?" The Young Republicans have also canvassed in western Henrico County and distributed literature for Dr. Williams.

Among other activities, the club participates in two conventions per year. The state convention of the Young Republicans is held in February, and the other regional convention takes place in March. Charlie Wright, a senior from William and Mary, is chairman of the Virginia Young Republicans. This year's officers of the organization are Pete Crow, president; Nancy Hahn, vice president; Dottie Shaw, secretary; and William Laughlin, treasurer. Thus, the Young Republicans provides a training ground for political leadership and better informed citizens.

First Row: E. Johnson, D. Wilson, N. Hahn, P. Crow, W. Laughlin, C. Wright, G. Guin. Second Row: J. Pitt, F. LaRoche, S. Hellington, S. Buffington, L. Alley, W. Braman, J. Renick. Third Row: J. # CIRCLE K CLUB

Kiwanis International appears on the William and Mary campus in the form of Circle K. The college version of the organization was chartered in 1959. The group has grown and developed tremendously.

Striving to provide service and fellowship, the group has undertaken such projects as information and guide service for visitors and prospective students; a coat rack at Phi Beta Kappa; developing the Matoaka Shelter Lake area by clearing paths and putting up signs and bridges; and conducting the "Keep off the Grass" campaign. In addition they have conducted fall and spring carwashes, and Christmas and Easter parties for the children at Dunbar.

Under the leadership of Eugene Grace, president, the group strives to promote a better understanding between college and community. Other officers are Richard Johnson, vice president; Doug Hinkel, secretary; Dave Korpi, treasurer; and Zeke Topping, membership chairman.

WAYNE F. GIBBS ACCOUNTING CLUB

The Wayne F. Gibbs Accounting Club is one of the many organizations on the William and Mary campus composed of members who have a similar interest. The club acquaints its members with the various aspects in the field of accounting and seeks to improve methods of accounting education. By fostering the ideal of service as the basis of all worthy enterprise, the organization encourages cooperation among instructors, students, and professional men in accounting.

To be eligible for admission, a student must have completed one year of accounting or its equivalent. The club was named for a William and Mary professor who taught at the College for over thirty years and who recently retired.

This year the Wayne F. Gibbs Accounting Club participated in a field trip and a program presented by an IBM speaker. Officers include Steve Segal, president; Diane Basinger, vice president; Mary Weldon, secretary; and Bert Anker, treasurer. The club advisor is Mr. William Reece.

First Row: S. Wood, D. Basinger, S. Segal, B. Anker, P. Lewis. Second Row: T. S. Quinn, T. Symmes, B. Kane, E. Wilverding, R. Woerle. Third Row: W. Rees, D. Blevins, H. Miller, R. Thomasch

SOCIETY FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF MANAGEMENT

The Society for the Advancement of Management is a national professional organization which correlates campus interest with functional projects. Its objectives are to bring together students with the opportunity to join in organizing, planning, directing, and controlling the activities of organizations devoted to promoting the advancement of the art of science in management. To accomplish these purposes, S.A.M. works in a close relationship with local and national merchants and business firms.

S.A.M. encourages and welcomes all students interested in business, economics, and government. Every fall they conduct a membership drive, during which future activities and programs are presented to prospective members so that their interest may be secured. Lectures, panel meetings, roundtable discussions, plant visits, management conferences, essays, newsletters, and community activities offer sources for program materials. This year, led by James L. Scott, president, and Max B. Jones, faculty advisor, the group made an earnest effort to go beyond classroom materials and into more realistic preparation.

ORCHESIS

Black leotard-clad figures swaying rhythmically to music, dancers gliding gracefully across the floor, and the strains of a piano furnish the background for the weekly meetings of Orchesis, William and Mary's modern dance group.

Orchesis is a part of the Women's Athletic Association at William and Mary. New members are chosen from the outstanding performers at dance auditions held early in the fall of each school year. Membership provides an opportunity to study dance on a more advanced level than gym classes can offer.

The purpose of Orchesis is to work on the development of choreography and production in dance. Later, the group is split into smaller rehearsal groups which work toward the production of the annual "Evening of Dance" in the spring. This concert, directed, choreographed, and danced entirely by the members of Orchesis, had an Americana theme this year. Another Orchesis highlight this year was the lecture demonstration, "The Making of a Dance," by the well-known dancer and choreographer, Miss Pauline Koner.

The group was led this year by Marilyn Sterner, president, and Miss Rona Sande, advisor.

MERMETTES

The entire William and Mary campus looks forward to the annual spring program put on by the Mermettes. This group of talented girls works hard on routines, costumes, and lighting during the fall and winter months, and by the time spring and the date for their show arrive, they have achieved the outstanding performance which has come to be a tradition in Mermettes.

Mermettes is a group activity for women students who show outstanding talent and ability in synchronized swimming. Each fall a try-out is held for both upperclassmen and freshmen. All girls are given the opportunity to exhibit their potentialities in the basic strokes and dives, and in group swimming. After successfully passing the difficult trials, the new member attends the weekly meetings held at the pool in Blow Gymnasium. During these sessions concentration is placed on the strengthening of each individual's strokes and skills.

Work on the spring show consumes most of the time for all members. The show is entirely composed and directed by the Mermettes. Girls submit ideas on choreography, costumes, lighting, and backdrop. When the final choice of all numbers is made, everyone practices, first on "land" then in the pool.

In addition to the spring show, the Mermettes attend an annual water clinic, which affords an opportunity to exchange with other organizations ideas on formation swimming.

Officers of Mermettes are Fran Marshall, director; Crellin James, assistant director; Gretchen Ernst, secretary; Jancy Schrup, treasurer; Linda Dorset, historian; Val Janz, Lynne Marcus, and Barbara Wampler, production managers. Miss Barrett is advisor to the organization.

MAJORETTES

The William and Mary majorettes this year performed under the leadership of Kathy Deeds, head majorette, at all home games, pep rallies, parades, and some away games. At each football game, during intermission, the college band presented a musical program revolving around a central theme, which the majorettes carried out in their routines. The girls devised their own routines to suit the band numbers and practiced with the band previous to each performance. They traveled to Annapolis with the football team for the Navy game and performed there along with the William and Mary Marching Band. They also performed during half time at the Thanksgiving Day Festival in Richmond.

There are seven majorettes plus alternates. Girls remain on the squad for four years, after being chosen by the upperclassmen of the corps on the basis of appearance, showmanship, poise, capability to learn a routine, and ability to work with a group. The head majorette is chosen by the squad in the spring previous to the year in which she will assume this position.

PEP CLUB

School spirit and the lack of it are always topics worthy of conversation on college campuses. To revitalize the elusive school spirit and to generate enthusiasm among the students was the aim of the William and Mary Pep Club this year. Operating on the assumption that this intangible "spirit" is omnipresent but sometimes dormant, the Pep Club provided many opportunities for its expression this year.

Led this year by Dick Goodwin, the Pep Club encouraged student vitality with pep rallies and bonfires. By sponsoring busses the club made it possible for anyone to attend many of the away games for a reasonable fee. With the idea of promoting enthusiasm for all college sports activities, the organization was active the entire year.

In addition to increasing school spirit, the club gave many dances and sock hops to accommodate freshmen who were unable to attend social activities in the lodge area.

STUDENT RELIGIOUS UNION

As the name suggests, the Student Religious Union is an organization composed of a representative from each religious fellowship group on campus. In its attempt to promote cooperation and understanding among the various religions on campus, the Union sponsors such activities as Wednesday night chapel services in the Wren Chapel and Religious Emphasis Week in February.

The group meets every two weeks, at which time they present varied programs. Business meetings consist of an attempt to clarify any problems which might exist for one or all of the nine religious groups. The spring semester saw several speakers taking part in the activities of the group. The special project for the year was the donation of a series of books for the Religion shelf of the library. This was co-sponsored by all nine groups.

Officers for the year were: Dave Greenfield, president; Bonnie Sherman, secretary; Diane Rucker, treasurer; and Mr. Bright, administration representative.

BALFOUR-HILLEL CLUB

A religious atmosphere is provided for the Jewish students at William and Mary through the Balfour-Hillel. To stimulate the interest of the members, varied programs are given at the regular Sunday night meetings. Services are held in the Wren Building each Friday night. This year a greater range of programs was presented during the meetings. Stimulating student discussions, films, and outside speakers helped to enliven the year's activities and deepen the religious attitudes of each member. Various social events were held throughout the year in addition to the regular club functions.

Serving as president this year was David Greenfield, assisted by vice president Karen Harkavy; secretaries Leslie Diamant and Jean Stern; and treasurer Kenneth Olshansky. Acting in an advisory capacity was Rabbi Jesse J. Finkle.

BAPTIST STUDENT UNION

The primary purpose of the Baptist Student Union is to serve as a link between the college campus and the local church. It is open to any student who is a member of or interested in the Baptist denomination. Sunday evening services consist of a business meeting and student-planned and conducted programs. The main program theme this year was "Examining Christian Faith."

This year the BSU was active in various projects. They sponsored service projects and worship services, attended several religious conventions, and provided different social activities.

BSU members attended informal suppers on Monday nights to discuss anything of interest from world affairs to Sunday's sermon. There was also a luncheon on Wednesdays for day students.

From recreation to spirited discussions, the BSU provides a well-rounded atmosphere for Baptist students. Officers were Betty Burleson, president; Russell Gill, vice president; Patricia Davis, secretary; Page Brinkley, treasurer; and Miss Mary Elizabeth Wren, sponsor.

CANTERBURY CLUB

The Canterbury Club consists of the Episcopalian students at William and Mary. The informal Sunday suppers given at the Parish House provide a pleasant atmosphere for each weekly meeting. Each Canterbury member helps with certain projects during the year, such as preparing these Sunday dinners, joining small discussion groups, or assisting in keeping the club's scrapbook up to date. These are only a few of the many projects which are part of the Canterbury Club's busy schedule. The weekly programs consist of different speakers or lively discussions. Thus year the club played a major role in bringing the Evangelist, Bryan Green, back. Members also served as ushers for the Sunday night church services. The warm and friendly nature of the Canterbury Club provides Episcopalian students with a place to seek guidance, relaxation, and spiritual knowledge.

Officers for this year were the following: president, Claudia Tucker; secretary, Martha Bean; treasurer, Tom Farrington; program chairman, Hazel Bethea.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE ORGANIZATION

The principal aims of the Christian Science Organizations are to afford an opportunity for all students on the William and Mary campus to become acquainted with the tenets of Christian Science and to fairly represent Christian Science on the campus. This organization is affiliated with The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, Boston, Massachusetts.

Each Thursday services are held in Wren Chapel, affording the opportunity for testimonies of healing in Christian Science. Among its various other activities held during the year, the organization sponsors an authorized Christian Science lecture for the purpose of acquainting the campus with the healing mission of Christian Science.

Officers this year were Joel Chapman, president; Francine Snider, secretary; Walter Stevens, treasurer; Joan Lee, SRU representative; and Mrs. Lois Hornsby, advisor.

NEWMAN CLUB

Newman Club, the Catholic student organization, endeavors to present philosophical and practical knowledge of the Catholic faith and to provide an area for the gathering of the Catholic students on the campus. These purposes are interpreted through panel discussions, speakers, and debates regarding current problems relating to religion.

This year a breakfast was held each Sunday after the nine o'clock Mass at St. Bede's Catholic Church. This was followed by a lecture and a discussion period. Topics considered included predestination, mixed marriages, evolution, and existentialism. At Christmas, the group entertained one of the wards at Dunbar.

This year's officers were: president, Carol Aune Wylie; vice president, Jennie Beary; secretary, Peggy Peacock; treasurer, Aubrey Morrison; program chairmen, Lynn Meushaw and Bob Audley; and SRU representative, Ann Harvey. Father Zung is the Chaplain of the group.

WESLEY FOUNDATION

The Wesley Foundation is the Methodist-sponsored young people's group for college students. In its fruitful attempts to bring Christ to the college students, Wesley conducts many activities. In addition to the regular Sunday evening meetings which cater to the interests of the students, the group sponsors a coffee hour every Friday night to which faculty members and guests are often invited to participate in informal discussion.

The organization provides ample opportunity for service. Every Sunday members go to Dunbar where they provide services and parties for the patients. Several of the boys have volunteered to preach in two rural churches on the Sahuda circuit.

Wesley is active in other fields of endeavor also. Groups such as the Wesley choir and the Wesley players offer opportunity for diversified activity. The Wesley Rhythmic Choir was organized this spring.

Officers this year were Joe Snyder, president; Stephen Anderson, vice president; Sandy Johnston, secretary, and Bucky Reigelman, treasurer. Rev. Rudolph Benesch served as advisor.

LUTHERAN STUDENT ASSOCIATION

An active denominational group, the Lutheran Student Association provides its members with an opportunity to join together in meaningful religious activities. Meeting in a social atmosphere for informal religious development, and encouraging an increased awareness of Lutheranism, the group studies its history and creeds. By inquisitive discussion, members of the Association deepen their own faith and religious understanding, and at the same time contribute Christian leadership to many other realms of campus life.

Throughout the year they have convened for regular Sunday evening meetings. Timely supplements included a Thanksgiving dinner, a special Vesper service, and stimulating guest speakers including Dr. John Lachs of the philosophy department. In addition, the group sponsored a project to contribute the processional cross to the main sanctuary of their newly-built church.

Leading the 1962-63 undertakings were Howard Lloyd, president; Tom Bosserman, vice president; Linda Dorset, secretary-treasurer. Annabel Boozer represented the group at the Student Religious Union proceedings, which coordinated all organized campus religious organizations.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS CLUB

During the 1962-63 school year the membership of the Young Democrats has more than tripled.

A major goal of the Young Democrats Club has been the arousal of student interest in political issues of the day. To this end, club meetings, visiting speakers, discussions with faculty members, and club participation on local elections have emphasized an awareness of current issues and have underlined the stand of the Democratic Party.

Leading their activities were: Dean Flippo, president; Gerry Gimmel, vice president; Muff Waters, secretary; and Al Etheridge, treasurer.

INTER-FRATERNITY COUNCIL

KARL ZAVITKOVSKY, President

IFC in action

The officers of the Inter-Fraternity Council for this year are Karl Zavitkovsky, president; Mac Lillywhite, vice president; Bob Buckley, secretary; Dick Carling, treasurer; and Keith Blomstrom, social chairman. These officers are elected from the representatives to IFC with the exception of the vice president. This latter officer is chosen from among the fraternity presidents and in addition is chairman of the House and Grounds Committee. As chairman, the IFC vice president is in charge of discipline and general policing of the lodge area. Since each fraternity has one representative plus its president on the Council, the total membership of the organization is twenty-two members.

The purposes of the Inter-Fraternity Council include acting as a liaison between the administration and the fraternity system. It is the co-ordinating body for all general fraternity activities. In addition, IFC promotes closer inter-fraternity relationship and provides rules and regulations governing all activities in which the fraternities are involved. Another purpose of the IFC is to furnish guiding policies for the individual fraternities. IFC also seeks to maintain good relations between students and the residents of Williamsburg.

During the year the Inter-Fraternity Council participates in numerous activities. In the fall, the IFC gave a dance for freshmen in conjunction with student government and the Panhellenic Council. IFC supports an orphan under the foster parents program and gives parties for orphans during the Christmas season through the individual fraternities. Tentative plans are being made this year for sponsoring a folk-singing group. In addition the Inter-Fraternity Council may award a scholarship to an outstanding fraternity man. The IFC's major activity in the spring is Greek Weekend which is sponsored and organized along with Panhel. The weekend includes a formal dance Friday night, a fraternity-sorority field day and block party Saturday, and a Lake Matoaka party on Sunday.

GREEK WEEKEND

Wait a minute: I lost my contacts

Greek Weekend began a little earlier this year with a speech Thursday evening on the ideals of Greeks and Greek life.

On Friday night the Greek queen was announced and crowned at the Roller Rink. The remainder of the evening's enjoyment was supplied by Maurice Williams and the Zodiaks.

Saturday afternoon saw the Greeks together for the annual field games. Climaxing these activities was the wild zany soap box derby. Winding up the weekend fun was the block party late Saturday afternoon and evening with music by the Continentals.

MALCOLM LILLYWHITE, President

Kappa Alpha was originally founded at Washington and Lee University with the assistance of General Robert E. Lee. Thus the rightful claim as "Sons of Robert E. Lee." The Alpha Zeta chapter has been continuously active longer than any fraternity on the campus of William and Mary.

The high point of the Kappa Alpha social calendar is in the spring with the "Southern Ball" and the crowning of their sweetheart. Then the KA's deck themselves out in all the grandeur of the Southern past.

In sports, KA has always been able to boast of a very high standing. This year saw the KA's rank in the upper quarter of fraternity sports. The KA's also did their part in contributing to the improved season of the William and Mary football team with several outstanding football players.

Heading up the administrative side of the Alpha Zeta Chapter were Mac Lillywhite, president; John Gravely, vice president; Bill Jeffries, secretary; Donald Beck, treasurer.

JOHN MEAGHER, President

If there is one word which best describes Kappa Sig, it is diversity. Not only does Kappa Sig pride itself in the best parties on campus, but also in the great number of brothers who participate in campus activities.

Brother "Irish" O'Hara served as president of this year's senior class, while brothers Hunter and Corley led the Junior Class as president and vice president, respectively. Ed Watters served on the men's Honor Council and Tony Steinmeyer was president of the Inter-Club Council. Many participated in varsity sports. Yet, while Kappa Sigs participated in such campus activities, they did not forget their academic duties, as they accumulated an average above the all-fraternity average.

As the first semester ended, president John Meagher turned over his duties to the newly-elected president Bill Stewart, and the Kappa Sigs set out on another successful year. Aided by the "Fabulous" Facimos, the Kappa Sigs again will come up with an outstanding pledge class. The pledge-brother beer party, the Sweetheart Dance, and the Kappa Sig Weekend were merely highlights of a "rockin'" second semester, as the Kappa Sigs again lived up to their reputation as the rockin'est frat on the row.

While Kappa Sig thrives on its diversity, the brotherhood amongst the brothers is perhaps among the strongest on campus. It has been said that a Kappa Sig is never seen walking down the street without another brother. It is this intense brotherhood combined with the diversity and individuality of the brothers that has made Kappa Sig the number one fraternity and its brothers leaders in all phases of campus life.

JIM BENNETT, President

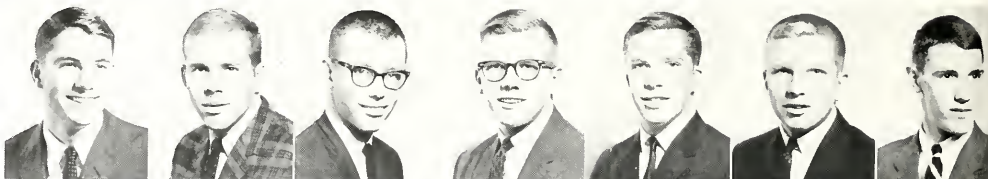

This has been a colorful year for the brotherhood of Lambda Chi Alpha. It has seen the brothers set the social pace with the Roaring Twenties Orgy, the Virginia Beach Weekend, and the unexpected Parole Party. The men of the Epsilon Alpha chapter also led the way in athletics and scholarship, populating the track, swimming, and baseball teams with some of the best athletes to ever attend William and Mary. The fraternity also topped off the row with the most members on Dean's list.

Lambda Chi has led the campus in many fields. 1962-1963 finds the brothers as Student Government representatives, an ODK, as associate editor of the Flat Hat, dorm manager, president of S.A.M., photography editor of the W & M Review, head group leader, President's aide, head cheerleader, vice president of Pi Delta Epsilon, S-1 and S-2 in ROTC, and leaders in the Law Club, Choir, Band, Lutheran Student Association, Physics Club, Debate Team, Sigma Pi Sigma, the American Chemical Society, Tau Kappa Alpha, and Scabbard and Blade. From this active brotherhood, the new officers were chosen: Doug Berryman, President; Glen McCaskey, vice president; Jim Bennett, treasurer; and Bob White, secretary.

JOHN HEENAN, President

September 1962 found six Phi Taus among the early arrivals on campus for orientation week. With all the brothers back, the first half semester's activities were climaxed by work on the Homecoming float and the wildest Homecoming weekend in years.

Christmas season brought out the best in all the brothers, as we contributed Christmas stockings to the children at Dunbar. The holiday also saw lodge number eight decorated beautifully in traditional red and green for our annual Christmas party.

Other social highlights of the semester were parties with Chi Omega and Kappa Kappa Gamma, and our well-known "Court Parties."

First semester was terminated with election of officers: Roger Hardy, president; Phil Van Kirk, vice president; Robert Kunkle, secretary; Chris Rupp, treasurer.

Socially, second semester offered much the same in parties, with the addition of our Jamaica Party, Founder's Day Banquet, and a Virginia Beach Weekend.

Besides social life, Phi Tau is represented in various respects on campus. Brothers Elder, Audley and Gette are on the cricket team and Roger Hardy is a varsity baseball player. Roger is also secretary of the Honor Council and the Old Dominion dormitory manager. In theatre we are represented by Tobey Sindt and Lee Smith.

Social life, plus school participation, plus fraternal spirit equalled an excellent year for Phi Tau.

PERRY WHITE, President

Pi Kappa Alpha, the fifth ranked fraternity in the nation, was founded at the University of Virginia in 1868. Gamma Chapter was founded at William and Mary three years later.

Gamma began the 1962-63 school year under the leadership of Perry White and wasted no time upon returning from vacation with full weekends beginning at once. Homecoming weekend saw the annual reception for alumni and the PiKA "Wire Paladin" float won first place in the Homecoming Parade. December witnessed the Christmas Party and the PiKA Christmas Seals Campaign. Closing out the semester was the annual Playboy Party, a real swinger which the whole campus looks forward to and enjoys.

Athletically, PiKA had a fine year, fielding a strong football team, capturing the free throw competition with Tom Brennan, and also sweeping the volleyball competition for another first. In Varsity competition PiKA is very ably represented by Dick Kern on the football team.

The second semester got underway under the leadership of Dick Kern who guided the fraternity through a fine rush program and social schedule such as the Founder's Day Banquet and Dance, Virginia Beach weekend, and the Prehistoric Party. All in all, PiKA had a fine year.

NEIL FRIDENSTINE, President

Pi Lamb was founded at Yale University in 1895 and the Virginia Psi Chapter was established at the College of William and Mary in 1929. Being non-sectarian, Pi Lamb benefits from a variety of backgrounds, ideas, capabilities, and personalities, all of which help to form a true fraternity.

Pi Lamb has brothers who figure greatly in a wide variety of campus activities. Jerry Van Voorhis served as President of the Student Body and two brothers, Bill Black and Kenny Olshansky, were elected as representatives to the new Student Assembly. Four of the editors of the Flat Hat are Pi Lambs. Jerry Saunders is the Fraternity Editor of the COLONIAL ECHO.

Pi Lambda Phi is a social fraternity with a capital S. Each year the fraternity holds an annual weekend at Virginia Beach, a Halloween Party, Christmas Formal, and the now famous Gaza Strip Party along with other sorority parties and general weekend parties.

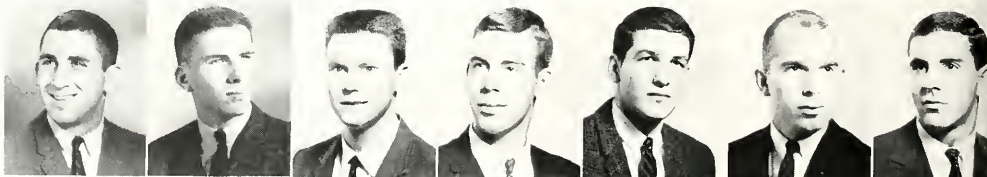

Pi Lambs are active in community projects that lend a helping hand to Williamsburg. Each Christmas it gives a party for underprivileged children with Kappa Kappa Gamma.

This is merely a list of better known events and activities taken part in by the brothers, but the fraternity is much more than this. Pi Lambda Phi is a spirit—a union of ideas and efforts on the part of each individual brother that blends to form the true meaning of the word fraternalism.

RICHARD WRIGHT, President

Sigma Alpha Epsilon was the first social fraternity founded in the South and one of the first to establish a chapter at William and Mary. In 1957, the Virginia Kappa Chapter celebrated its one hundredth anniversary. Today SAE is the largest national social fraternity.

SAE is, of course, first and foremost a social fraternity. In addition to the weekly parties and sorority parties, we enjoy a Virginia Beach weekend, our annual Smoke Ring Dance, beach parties at Jamestown, and various other parties and social functions.

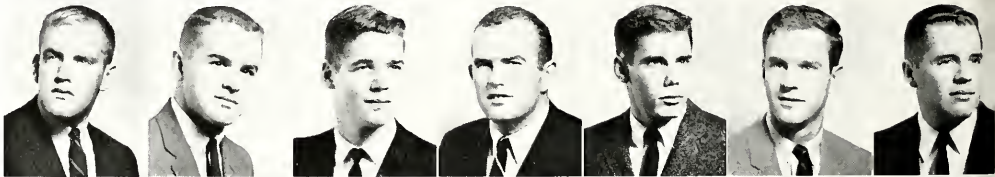

Yes, SAE is a social fraternity, but it is also an active member of the college community and the Williamsburg community. Dick Carling is a member of Eta Sigma Phi, the National Honorary Classics fraternity, and Gary Young is photography editor for the COLONIAL ECHO. In addition, SAE is a consistent donor to the Red Cross bloodmobile and visits the patients at Dunbar during the Christmas season.

As a whole, SAE is proud of their accomplishments at William and Mary.

AUBREY GOLBERG, President

Sigma Nu was founded at Virginia Military Institute in 1869, and its Epsilon Iota Chapter at William and Mary was established in 1922. Our brotherhood strives to maintain the tradition of honor and integrity in all of its activities.

Our social calendar included our annual Big Green Party honoring the football team, our Christmas Serenade, our White Rose and White Star formal dances, Sigma Nu weekend, in addition to sorority and weekend parties, all of which helped to brighten our college life and gave us a break from the study grind.

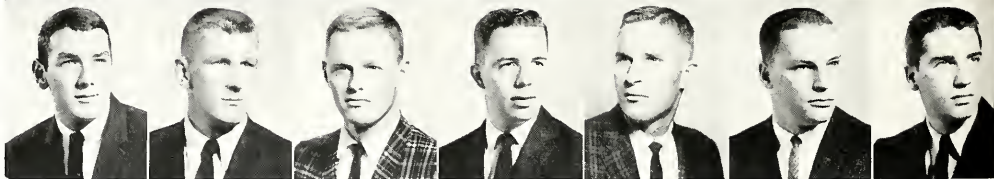

Epsilon Iota was well represented in all phases of athletics, both intercollegiate and intramural. Led by All-Southern Conference performers Charlie Weaver and John Sapinsky, Epsilon Iota contributed fifteen members to William and Mary's football squad. As usual, Epsilon Iota placed strongly in intramural competition. Nu-men were also active in Student Government, Political Science Club, Varsity Club, Honorary Classics Fraternity, and various religious clubs.

Officers for the year: president, Aubrey Goldberg; vice president, John Simon; secretary, Ed Davis; and treasurer, Don Schenk.

What makes Sig Ep run? Simply the desire to be the best in everything. We work hard and party hard, and it has paid off handsomely. Vigor is our byword; the president and vice president of the Young Democrats are Sig Eps to prove it. Honor is also a byword, for there are two Sig Eps on the Honor Council. Study is another—the Draper Scholar is one of our brothers this year. Sig Eps are proven leaders.

In intramural sports, our teams are winning every day. Our varsity athletes are helping William and Mary win Southern Conference laurels.

Our social calendar begins with an Indian Summer beach party, complete with motorboats and water skis. Our Founder's Day Formal comes early in November. We give a Christmas party for underprivileged kids during the Yuletide. For Homecoming, we always manage to throw together a float which makes up in fun and originality what it may lack in beauty. The second semester is culminated by the Golden Hearts Ball, at which our new sweetheart(s) is (are) crowned. Before this, there are the annual Easter egg hunt with Pi Beta Phi and the annual Mardi Gras Masquerade party.

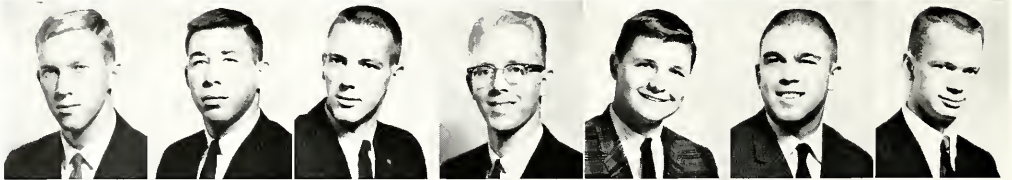

Aside from all the tangible things in which Sig Eps engage as a fraternity and as individuals, there is an all-pervading spirit of brotherhood constantly among us.

The officers of Sigma Phi Epsilon this year are as follows: president, Mick McKann; vice president, Terry Lady; secretary, Bill Morrison; controller, Wendell Schmidt; and historian, Don Olsen.

Alpha-Eta Chapter of Sigma Pi was founded on the William and Mary campus in 1931. The idea of Sigma Pi was conceived at Vincennes University in 1897; now the membership has increased to approximately 17,500 brothers affiliated through 52 chapters across the nation.

As the '62-'63 session began many Sigma Pi's assumed positions in various campus organizations: John Tugman leading the Political Science Forum; Karl Zavitkovsky as president of the Inter-Fraternity Council and member of the Men's Honor Council; Tommy Vaughn as vice president of the Sophomore Class and Jim Hunter fulfilling the corresponding office in the Student Association; Jack Allison as a member of the Student Assembly; and Jim Goodell continuing his work at WCWM.

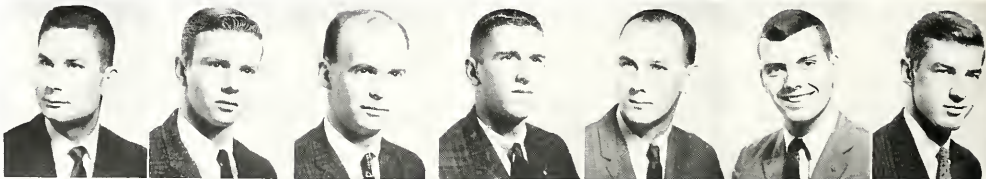

Recently elected officers of Sigma Pi are: John Joplin, president; Mike Kelly, vice president; Cash Stanley, secretary; Tom Hollowell, treasurer; Mickey Taylor, social chairman, and Paul Lipani, house manager.

First semester was replete with activities and achievements—Homecoming was enjoyed by all; Sorority Parties with Alpha Chi and Tri-Delt highlighted the weekends; the unforgettable Castro Party; the Christmas Dance with Lord Body and the Sultans; the Orphan's party with Tri-Delt, the serenade. Second semester promises to be equally as copiously supplied with events for the brotherhood—the Founder's Day Banquet, Pledge-Brother athletic skirmishes, Greek Weekend, the Toga Party, Spring Finals, all climaxed by the Annual Orchid Ball, the termination of the reign of our present Sweetheart, Marsha Clough of Kappa, and the crowning of our new Sweetheart.

Theta Delta Chi is one of the oldest national social fraternities in the country and the first to be founded at William and Mary. It was established here in 1853.

Theta Delt welcomed the fall semester with an array of parties. Aside from the usual weekly parties and the sorority parties, we did it up big for Homecoming and honored many of the alumni at the Founders Day Banquet. Our annual Halloween Party was a real swinger and we topped off the season with the annual Christmas Tree Trimming Party.

Moving into high gear after Christmas the Theta Delt kept the ball rolling socially with our Sweetheart Dance, at which we honored our sweetheart and had our boat party.

Sportswise, we have had a good year, doing well in intramurals and contributing to varsity sports. Arnie Jones is a halfback on the varsity football team and Turk Despard on the varsity swimming team.

Around campus Theta Delt is proud that the Commander of ROTC is a brother.

All in all, it has been a successful year for Theta Delta Chi.

PANHELLENIC COUNCIL

JUDY LIDDLE, President

The Panhellenic Council consists of two delegates and the president from each of the nine sororities at the College of William and Mary. Panhellenic means "all Greeks." These representatives meet twice monthly to discuss mutual problems, promote inter-sorority relations, act as a liaison between the college administration and the sororities, and supervise rush. This year's officers are president, Judy Liddle; vice president, Susan Roache; secretary, Judy Stewart, and treasurer, Sally Siegenthaler. Miss Morrow, Assistant Dean of Women, is the advisor.

All rushing is regulated. Rush rules are formulated by the council, and each member is available to answer questions of interest to prospective rushees. A program is administered to acquaint the freshman women with the sorority system. In connection with this, a tea is given; "Greek Notes," a booklet which presents a list of the rush rules and other pertinent information, is published and distributed; and the junior Panhellenic representatives put on a skit to familiarize the freshman with the rules and discuss problems concerning them.

Panhel sponsors several functions during the year, including "Greek Weekend" which is held in conjunction with the Inter-Fraternity Council. Every two years a Panhellenic Workshop is convened for both the council members and other sorority women. To encourage better scholarship among sorority women, a trophy is awarded to the sorority with the highest scholastic average, and a plaque to the sorority which shows the greatest improvement over the previous semester. Two scholarships consisting of $100 each are also presented annually to deserving women. This year's council instituted new rushing rules and revised its constitution.

The college Panhellenic Council is guided in its activities by the National Panhellenic Council which is composed of delegates from each of the thirty-one national sororities.

ACTIVITIES

Greek Weekend is the one time during the year when all the fraternities and sororities get together as a group. A great deal of effort is put forth by the joint sponsors, the Inter-Fraternity Council and the Panhellenic Council. On Friday night, there is a semi-formal dance in the Student Center and Saturday afternoon the Greeks participated in games of Tug-of-War, Fire Rolling, and Egg Throwing. Following the games, a Block Party is held on fraternity row. Through the gaiety of the weekend, the Greek organizations are drawn closer together.

Acceptance Day, the culmination of Rush Week, proved to be as exciting as previous years. Due to the fine organization and planning by Panhel, the week of parties ran smoothly. Early in the fall semester, Panhel began familiarizing the freshman women with the Rush Rules through skits and a talk by Judy Liddle. During the Rush Week, Panhel acted as liaison between the rushee and the sororities, matching party invitations with preferences. This year, the final preferences were matched with bids by a Faculty Committee and issued through the Panhel office.

BONNIE HIGGINS, President

The Alpha Chi sorority spirit floated South to Miami Beach last summer to our National Convention. Back she sailed to Williamsburg to start the fall with our prize-winning float, open house for freshman men, and our Founder's Day Banquet. Fraternity parties, academic and athletic events kept the Alpha Chi spirit rising until she was transformed to the Christmas Spirit for the Alpha Chi-Kappa Sig party for underprivileged children and the Christmas Dance at the Williamsburg Lodge.

The Alpha Chi spirit helped keep up school spirit in the positions of president, vice president, and secretary of WDA; Honor Council, and Mortar Board officers, and campus activities.

After a successful informal rush, the Alpha Chi spirit encompassed a wonderful pledge class in February. The Alpha Chi spirit rose highest in the spring with sweetheart serenades, beach parties, the pledge presentation dance, and our senior banquet.

Officers for the year were: Bonnie Higgins, president; Alois Tinsman, vice president; Pat Thomas, secretary; and Marie Lynn Hunken, treasurer.

GERRY FITZGERALD, President

Let's take a Chi Omega journey through the year 1962-63. Our first stop is at the House early in September as seventeen seniors are busily making plans for the best year yet.

These plans were soon to be activated into fall rush. With six new pledges, Toni Fitzhugh, Lorilei Adams, Sandy Dixon, Carleen Sundin, Mary Ann Verner, Joanna Jeffries to provide enthusiasm and zeal, Chi Omega started the round of fraternity parties, receptions and desserts.

The traditional Christmas Kindness, providing a Christmas for a needy family and sending packages to a foster child overseas made everyone think more seriously about the holiday season. Among other events of the season was a banquet and dance held in the Great Hall of the the Wren Building.

The beginning of second semester brought on rush in all its glory, tension and final relief as "black bugs" were pinned on the new pledges. After the pledges completed the rigors of the pledge program, plans were made for the big occasion of the year—The White Carnation Ball.

The school year of 1963 ended with the Senior Banquet in May as seniors made farewell speeches and the underclassmen started making plans for the future in Chi O.

The officers for the year were: Gerry Fitzgerald, president; Betty Bowman, vice president; Dabney Ragland, secretary; and Tina Grosser, treasurer.

BABS BEAUMONT, President

Just back from Tri Delta's National Convention in Arizona, Babs Beaumont enthusiastically began to organize activities for the year with the help of our officers.

First came another winning Homecoming for Tri Delta: a Homecoming Queen, three of her attendants, and another first place float, "Lick Furman, Leave 'Um Dragon." Winter came with a full schedule: our Founder's Day Banquet on Thanksgiving Eve, our Christmas dance, the annual Orphan Party with Sigma Pi, caroling with Kappa Sigma, and a surprise visit from Santa at our Pine Party.

After Formal Rush in the spring our new pledges were presented at the Pledge Dance. Next came our annual Garden Party at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Guy. In May we concluded the year with the spirit with which it was begun as we bade farewell to the Senior Deltas at the Pansy Breakfast.

The officers for this year were: president, Babs Beaumont; vice president, Carol Boardman; secretary, Judy Williams; treasurer, Jeanne Wilkinson.

AMY RODABAUGH, President

We returned to school with high hopes for a successful new year and were led by Amy Rodabaugh, president; Nancy Ramsey, vice president; Marilyn Sterner, secretary; and Sherry Parrish, treasurer. During the fall we initiated Linda Neese, had parties with fraternities, welcomed Mrs. Trostle, our PCD, and began supporting a Korean orphan. We were honored to have two girls tapped for Phi Beta Kappa and, with Kappa and Phi Mu, we entertained the Faculty. We all enjoyed our Christmas dance, the chapter party, and the party with Sig Ep for underprivileged children.

1963 was ushered in by the initiation of three girls, a grand set of new pledges, and more fraternity parties. In the spring we initiated our pledges—honored our mothers at a tea—and closed the year with the Spring Banquet and Dance, the Senior Picnic, and the Senior Banquet. We wished the seniors a sad but fond farewell and looked forward to another successful and busy year in the House of the Crescent Moon.

"Remember . . ."

The warm September days found the Thetas returning to the campus with enthusiasm and hopes for the coming year. Our officers for 1962-1963: Jackie Johnson, president; Randi Sigmund, vice president; Judy Hall, secretary; and Grace Turbiville, treasurer, were set for the new year.

Homecoming brought the "Great Green Whale" to the Theta's front yard and a fourth place honor. Theta's six new pledges, raving fraternity parties, and many good Happy Hours helped to make autumn a lot of fun. The Fall Formal in November was a great success and fun was had by all. The Christmas season was celebrated by caroling at Eastern State, making puppets for Dunbar, and a Christmas party at the House with Mrs. Santa.

With the warm days of spring came the Pledge Presentation Dance, fraternity parties, and the Senior Picnic. June brought graduation and cherished memories of Theta.

JEAN GARDE, President

September school bells chimed in many additions to the Kappa house: a new, beige study room; a silver plaque from the Kappa National Convention announcing us as second place winners of the scholarship award; and a plaque for first place for scholarship on campus.

Jean Ball, our new fall pledge, helped us successfully entreat the Indian team to "DeKappatate" Furman at Homecoming. This was followed in November by the first senior "Father-Daughter Weekend." December brought with it our annual dance with Pi Beta Phi, the "Monmouth Duo"; Yvonne Baay acquired a Phi Beta Kappa key; and our Christmas party with Pi Lambda Phi for underprivileged children proved a rewarding experience.

Following the pledging of eighteen wonderful girls, the spring months ushered in fraternity parties, intramural tennis competition, philanthropic work at Eastern State, and finally, our Senior Banquet.

Officers for the year were: president, Jean Garde; vice president, Phyllis Eason; secretary, Gayle Oakey; treasurer, Shauneen Cruise.

The Phi Mu National Convention at the Fountainbleau during the summer set the pattern for a busy year for all of us in Gamma Alpha. Our officers were: president, Pat Brombach; vice president, Jane Turns; secretary, Sandy Carney; and treasurer, Joan Braue. They were enthusiastic as they guided Phi Mu into the many activities of the new college year.

The weeks ahead were busy with the building of the Homecoming float, the weekly Phi Mu Open House on Tuesday nights, a Thanksgiving dinner for the I. F. C. Council, teas, parties, and our Christmas party and dance.

Open rush in the fall had been successful and second semester found us preparing for formal rush. The spring brought our District Convention in Richmond, Presentation dance, senior banquet, and graduation. The seniors of Phi Mu left with many happy and fond memories of their days as Phi Mu collegians.

"Gee, I'm glad I'm a Pi Phi" rang out from the Pi Phi House this fall. A new year was beginning. First came Informal Rush, and two new Pi Phi's wearing "a little dart" were added to the roll call. Homecoming was upon us, the float was finished, the parade began, and we came in second! To complete the weekend, our two Leses were on the court—they were our "Pi Phi Sweethearts!" A national officer paid a visit and reminded us that "from rocky Maine there's a chain to the Golden Gate afar." The Monmouth Duo marked the beginning of the Christmas festivities. The chapter party, caroling at Eastern State, and serenades made it a busy season. With exams over, Formal Rush began. Rushees "wishing for the wine and blue" became our pledges. The pledge dance, initiation and the banquet were all very exciting. Senior Farewells ended the year, but we'll always "remember the Pi Phi Arrow."

The officers this year were: Lesley Ward, president; Lynne Thomas, vice president; Cynthia Fulwiler, secretary; and Carolyn Roosevelt, treasurer.

The return of several varsity performers and the arrival of some fine freshman athletes and two new coaches indicate an athletic revival at the Reservation.

Returning for his sixth year as head football coach and head of the athletic department is Milt Drewer. As athletic director Drewer maintains a full-time job of scheduling and recruiting. During the past football season, he compiled a 4-5-1 record with a nucleus of juniors and sophomores.

Drewer was ably assisted this past autumn by Ed Derringe (Georgetown '42) and Angie Tammariello (Denver '59) as defensive and offensive line coaches respectively. Other assistants were Lou Holtz (Kent State '59) as offensive backfield coach, and Larry Peccatiello (William and Mary '58) as end coach.

The freshman football team was coached by Roger Neilson (East Stroudsburg '53), one of the two new coaches. The other is Tammariello. He was assisted by Eric Erdossy (William and Mary '62).

The William and Mary basketball fortunes are once again in the hands of Bill Chambers, an ex-Indian cager. Chambers is on his way to producing another winning season after suffering his first losing one last year. The freshman basketball team is coached by Joe Agee (William and Mary '54). He has never had a losing season as mentor of the Papoose cagers. Agee is also the baseball coach. This year he is assisted in basketball by Charlie Woolum (William and Mary '62).

The Tribe swimming team is once more coached by Dudley Jensen (Springfield '48). Also returning this year is Harry Groves, one of the Tribes' most successful coaches. Groves coaches both cross-country and track and field. He is assisted in track and field by Mont Linkenauer, head trainer for the college. Groves is a graduate of Temple, and Linkenauer is a graduate of William and Mary.

Once more the department's business manager is William "Pappy" Gooch. Pappy is well known in the world of sports and has held many positions in William and Mary's athletic department. Undergraduate Barry Fratkin is serving his second year as Director of Sports Publicity.

MILT DREWER

Milt Drewer completed his sixth year as head football coach at William and Mary. Coming to the Reservation in May of 1957, Drewer made an auspicious debut by defeating a strong North Carolina State team which was ranked tenth in the nation at that time.

Drewer was born in Saxis, Virginia. He graduated from Randolph-Macon College in 1949, where he was a star full-back for the Yellow Jackets. Later he attended the University of Virginia, where he obtained his master's degree. Drewer coached three Virginia high schools, and served as an assistant coach at the University of Richmond before coming to William and Mary.

BILL CHAMBERS

William "Bill" Chambers is now in his sixth year as head basketball coach at William and Mary. A former Helms All-American in his playing days at William and Mary, he has been as successful as a coach as he was as a player. He holds the school record for most points in a three-year career (1437) and most rebounds in one season (509). He once scored 45 points in one game, and also holds the present national record of 51 rebounds in one game.

The 6' 3" Chambers played his high school basketball for E. C. Glass of Lynchburg. He came to William and Mary after a successful coaching career at Newport News High School, and has consistently produced winning teams on the Reservation.

JOE AGEE

Now in his fifth year at William and Mary, Joe Agee will once again coach the freshman basketball team and the varsity baseball team. He has never had a losing team as frosh basketball coach.

Agee graduated from William and Mary in 1952. In his senior year he was captain of the basketball team. After graduation he went to Korea as a Marine. He is now a Captain in the Marine Reserve.

Agee returned to William and Mary after coaching at Warwick High School. His Warwick teams were rivals of Bill Chambers' Newport News teams. Agee and Chambers were also teammates at William and Mary.

HARRY GROVES

William and Mary's consistently strong cross-country and track and field teams are directed by Harry Groves.

Groves received his bachelor's degree from Temple University in 1953. After graduation he entered the Army as a lieutenant and was stationed at Fort Eustis. After finishing his military service, he came to William and Mary in 1955 to work on his master's degree. In 1956 he began coaching and served as an assistant for one year. Then he assumed his present position as head coach. Groves is busy the year round as he handles an expanding indoor track team in the winter.

"Go-o-o-o-o, Indians! Fight!" With this battle cry the William and Mary cheerleaders enthusiastically followed their hard-working Indians through football and basketball games this year.

Under head cheerleader Herbert Hausmann, the squad did much to intensify the fans' spirit and loyalty for their teams. The summer months were spent in gathering ideas for new cheers and chants with which to lead the Indian fans. The feminine segment of the cheering squad looked resplendent in their new green skirts and gold weskits at the torch-lit football pep rallies on Jockey Corner.

The cheerleaders accompanied the team and fans to several away games. The William and Mary—Navy game was climaxed by the appearance of the tribe's radiant cheerleaders attired in various articles of the official midshipman's garb.

Wade Johnson, the 1962-63 Indian, and Wampo galloped their way through a comparatively successful football season. Half-time ceremonies of the Homecoming game saw the addition of another pony, Wampo Feather, donated by Mr. Tim Hanson, former W&M Indian.

Indians led by Bob Soleau, John Joplin, Bill Corley, and Bill Batten charge on to field for GW game

WILLIAM AND MARY ..... 3

VPI ..... 0

The Indians opened their 1962 season at Cary Field with a 3-0 victory over the VPI Gobblers. The win broke the Tribe's six-game losing streak and sent hopes through the Reservation for the first winning football season in eight years.

Late in the third quarter the Indians drove from their own 20-yard line to Tech's 2-yard line where the drive stalled. However, this gave Steve Bishop the chance to be the hero, as he booted the winning field goal. The scoring drive was featured by some accurate passing by Dan Henning and shifty running by Charlie Weaver.

The Gobblers came right back and marched to the Indians' 12 where a bone-crushing tackle by the game's top lineman, Bob Soleau, on Tech's quarterback, Pete Cartwright, ended VPI's only threat of the game.

VIRGINIA ..... 19

WILLIAM AND MARY ..... 7

Fresh from the opening game victory over Virginia Tech, the Indians took the field against the University of Virginia's Cavaliers before a home crowd of 12,000. Intent upon avenging last year's 21-6 loss in Charlottesville, William and Mary jumped off to a 7-0 lead after barely one minute of play, and later in the first quarter threatened to score again.

In the second quarter, however, the big, confident Cavaliers shook off their opening game jitters. They scored twice and added another in the third period for a 19-7 victory.

The Indians' touchdown was set up when end Dennis O'Toole recovered a Cavalier fumble on the opening kickoff. Halfback Charlie Weaver scored from the ten-yard line on a reverse that completely fooled the Virginia defenders. The Tribe continued to move the ball throughout the game but was hurt by five intercepted passes.

NAVY ..... 20

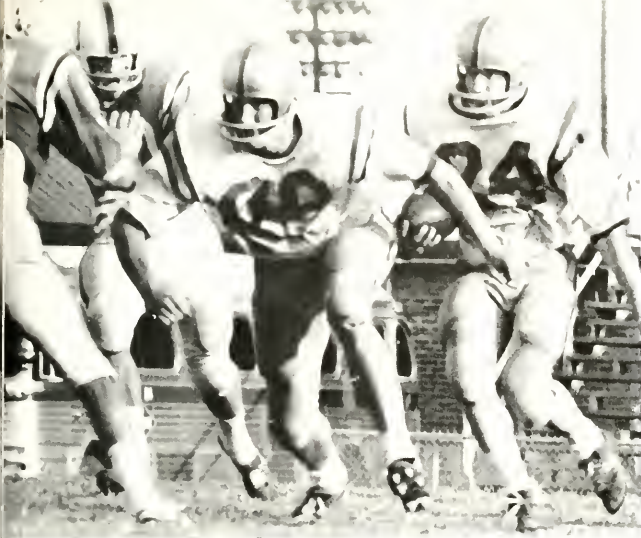

WILLIAM AND MARY ..... 16

The Indians almost pulled off a major upset at Annapolis. As it was, the 20-16 loss to heavily favored Navy can certainly be called a "moral victory."

Navy scored on the first series of downs, intent upon breaking open the game early. However, William and Mary capitalized on a Navy fumble, and Steve Bishop put the Indians in the scoring column with a 37-yard field goal. Just before the half, the Midshipmen scored again on a 55-yard pass play to lead 13-3.

The Indians came on strong in the second half. Charlie Weaver scored on a pass from Dan Henning to close the gap to 13-9. Minutes later, Dan Driscoll made a key interception, setting up Dan Armour's one-yard sneak for the go-ahead touchdown. However, the Tribe, which was not even supposed to be in Navy's class, could not hold the determined Middle offense. The Midshipmen moved 76 yards to paydirt and a hard-earned victory.

Stan Penkunas on the move

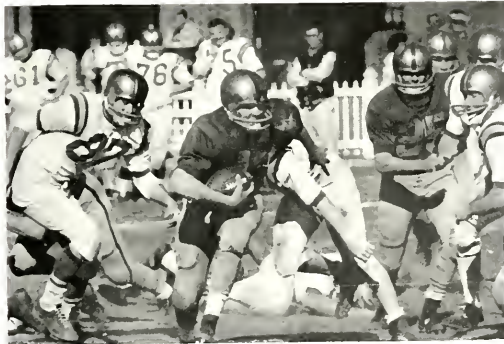

William and Mary, behind Charlie Weaver and Stan Penkunas, stopped the Citadel 29-23 and moved into a tie with VMI for the Southern Conference lead.

The Indians covered 340 yards on the ground and 109 yards in the air to set a new school record. This explosive offense was a real team effort as Sam Miller, Dick Kern, Penkunas, and Weaver all scored.

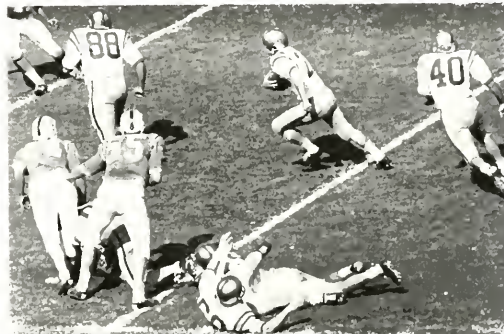

Penkunas and Weaver provided the game's most exciting runs. Penkunas scored in the fourth quarter on a spectacular 62-yard jaunt up the middle. Faced with a fourth and one situation, Penkunas slipped through a small hole off-tackle, then simply ran over two Bulldog defenders and outraced several others to the end zone.

After the Citadel had booted a field goal to go ahead 23-21, Weaver and Penkunas led the Indians back downfield. Weaver scored the winning touchdown on a brilliant 34-yard dash, behind two key blocks by end Bill Corley.

WILLIAM AND MARY..... 7
 DAVIDSON ..... 7

William and Mary attempted to take over first place in the Southern Conference as they traveled to Davidson, N. C. to meet the Davidson Wildcats. The game ended in a 7-7 tie.

The Indians started the game with an awesome display of power, but due to fumbles and to pass interceptions managed only one touchdown during the first half. That came on a quarterback sneak by Dan Henning. During this period the Tribe gained 185 yards on the ground.

Davidson's lone touchdown came at the end of the first quarter on a beautiful 85-yard pass play from quarterback Earl Cole to Steve Hickard.

Defensive changes for Davidson, plus the ninety degree temperature, stopped the Indian's attack in the second half. Neither team was able to mount any serious attack until late in the fourth quarter when the Indians moved to Davidson's four-yard line. The Wildcats held on fourth down, and then made a gallant effort to score, but failed as Stan Penkunas picked off Cole's pass to Hickard in the end zone with twenty seconds left.

Stan Penkunas is stopped short of an important first down on the Wildcats' 4-yard line

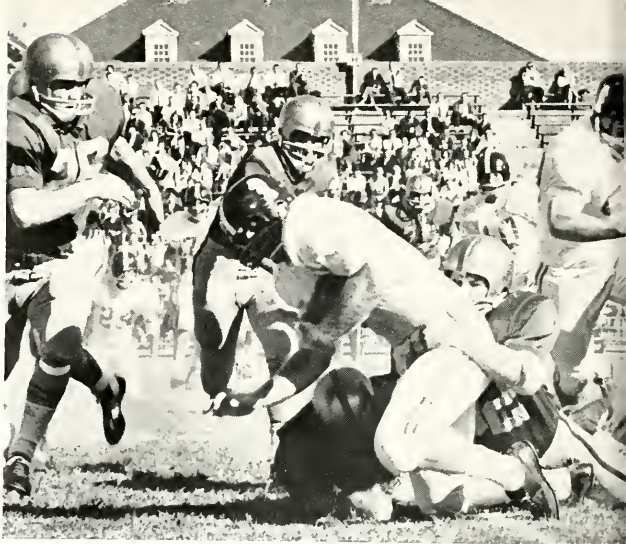

Homecoming at William and Mary was successfully celebrated as the Indians stopped Furman's fullback Elliot Keller, the nation's third leading rusher, and defeated the Paladins 21-7. As an added attraction, the Indians also set a Southern Conference record for yards penalized in a single game.

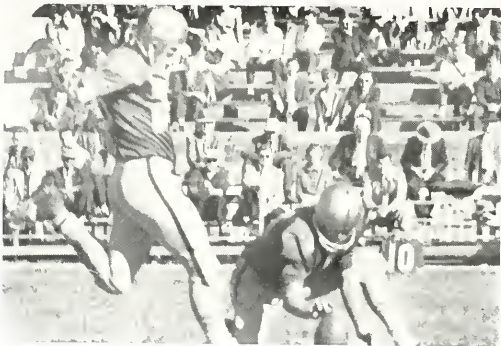

Keller entered the game with an average of 6.8 yards per carry, but with guard Bob Soleau assigned to follow him on each play, Keller managed only 43 yards in eleven carries.

The ever-ready, and sometimes over-anxious Indians were penalized 197 yards, breaking the old record of 140 set by VPI in 1959. When this news was announced in the fourth quarter, the William and Mary crowd roared its approval.

Charlie Weaver scored the Indians' first touchdown in the first quarter on a screen pass from Dan Henning. Furman scored in the second quarter to take a 7-6 lead at halftime. In the third quarter a Paladin penalty for pass interference in the end zone gave the Tribe a first down on the Furman one. Stan Penkunas scored on the next play, and Henning passed for the two point conversion. Henning passed 47 yards to Bill Corley for the last touchdown and the 21-7 victory.

WILLIAM AND MARY ..... 0

The William and Mary Indians traveled to Lexington to battle the Keydets for first place in the Southern Conference. The game turned out to be a defensive battle as neither team could generate a sustained drive until the last two minutes of the game. At that point, with the Indians trailing 6-0, Bill Corley recovered a Keydet fumble on the Tribe's 25-yard line. Quarterback Don Henning passed the Big Green down to the VMI's 11-yard line. This last minute drive stalled there as the Tribe failed to gain on four more pass attempts.

VMI scored the game's lone touchdown in the second quarter on a brilliant 26-yard run by halfback Pete Magik, immediately following the Keydet's recovery of a William and Mary fumble. This quick score sent VMI into the Southern Conference lead and dropped the Indians to third place behind West Virginia.

WEST VIRGINIA .....	28
WILLIAM AND MARY .....	13

After a tough loss to VMI, the Indians invaded Morgantown to try their luck against West Virginia. The Mountaineers, undefeated in the Southern Conference, turned the game into an aerial battle and went on to a 28-13 victory.

The Indians' pass defense proved to be their downfall, as West Virginia scored three times through the air. On the other hand, the Indians played rough, alert football on the ground, causing Mountaineer backs to fumble six times and recovering four of them. On offense the Indians managed to complete only 6 of 18 passes, as the Mountaineer secondary made four interceptions.

Ronnie Jones and Bill Corley scored for the Indians as they took a temporary 13-7 lead in the second quarter. Corley scored on a pass from quarterback Dan Henning. The Tribe continued to move all afternoon, but could not score again. Once again the Indians were led by Charlie Weaver and Stan Penkunas, while Bob Soleau and John Slifka played a fine game on defense.

Bob Soleau (on ground) trips the Mountaineers' Tom Yeates

WILLIAM AND MARY .....	10
GEORGE WASHINGTON .....	6

The George Washington Colonials provided the opposition in William and Mary's last home game. As has been true all year, the Indians' defense brought havoc on the opposition's ground game. Dick Drummond, G.W.'s All-Conference halfback, was limited to 16 yards in seven carries.

Both teams lost scoring opportunities on fumbles the first time they had the ball. The Indians scored first in the second quarter when Bill Corley intercepted a G.W. pass on the Colonials' 40-yard line and returned it to the 18. Six plays later Charlie Weaver scored from the four-yard line. In the third quarter the Tribe drove 64 yards. When the drive stalled, Steve Bishop kicked a 27-yard field goal.

The Colonials' score came late in the fourth quarter. Bill Pasche scored from the one-yard line after quarterback Frank Pazzaglia passed G.W. to the one-yard line from the Indians' 40.

The victory left the Indians with a 4-4-1 record. A victory over Richmond on Thanksgiving Day would give the Tribe its first winning season in a decade.

RICHMOND .....	15
WILLIAM AND MARY .....	3

William and Mary played 55 minutes of winning football against the University of Richmond on Thanksgiving day, protecting a 3-0 lead built on Steve Bishop's second quarter field goal. Then Lady Luck turned against the Indians and opened the door for a 15-3 Spider victory.

The turning point of the game came with time running out for the Spiders and the ball in Indian hands on their own 40-yard line. Quarterback Dan Henning called a sneak and ran up the middle for 15 yards before being hit by several Spiders. During the tackle, a Spider back took the ball away from Henning. With that surprising break, the Spiders quickly struck for two touchdowns before the stunned Indians could recover.

Until the final minutes, the tribe defense was outstanding. The line as usual refused to yield ground, while the pass defense held the talented combination of Rideout-to-Hilton with one completion in the first half.

CROSS-COUNTRY

Frank Brown finishing race against American U

Bill Cleveland on the course

The William and Mary cross-country team experienced one of its few losing seasons this year, with a 2-4-1 record. In regular season competition the harriers tied Virginia, defeated Richmond, and lost to VMI, VPI, and American University. In the College Invitational, the Indians again met defeat at the hands of VMI's talented Keydets, but took second place ahead of Richmond. The season was completed by taking third in the state meet and sixth in the grueling Southern Conference meet.

Frank Brown, Bill Cleveland, and Pete Raihofer earned letters this year. Gerry Gimmel, Jim Holdren, Bill Hurley, Al Insley, and Jim Randolph completed the squad.

Despite the varsity's disappointing year, cross-country at William and Mary has a very promising outlook for next year. The freshman runners compiled a perfect record of six wins and no losses. Led by distance runner Jim Johnson, they rolled to victory over every opponent on their regular schedule, and then took first place in the state frosh meet. The entire varsity team will also be available again next year. Brown, Cleveland, Raihofer, Gimmel, Holdren, Insley, and Randolph are all juniors, while Hurley is a sophomore. These experienced men plus the promising freshmen should give Coach Harry Groves a sound nucleus with which to re-establish cross-country at William and Mary to its usual winning form.

CRICKET

The William and Mary Cricket Team was started two years ago by Dick Grubb, the Draper Exchange Student. It has enjoyed successful seasons both years despite the novelty of the game to most of the players. The College of William and Mary, like Harvard, the University of North Carolina, Brown University, and Haverford College can point with pride to her skill in this international sport.

The team began the season this fall with a sparkling success over the Chesapeake Casual Cricket Club. This club, which held a 2 to 1 record over us last year, was defeated 100 to 94 with seven wickets to fall. Standout performances were the batting of veteran Dave McDougal and Chris Reiss and the excellent bowling of Tom Kirkup and Chris Reiss.

The William and Mary team is coached and managed by the players themselves. With the assistance of the College Athletic Department and Colonial Williamsburg, Inc., the Indians will continue to play each week in the spring on the Court House Green. The squad's fielding, always good, should find assistance from their improved batting and bowling. Among the nine returning players are co-captains John Gette and Gordon Pehrson.

Looking forward to the spring games the cricketers foresee continued success. Expecting to play six or seven games, including games against the British Commonwealth Cricket Club, the Chesapeake Casuals, Haverford College, and the University of North Carolina, the Tribe should finish with a winning season.

BASKETBALL

After losing five of their first seven games, Coach Bill Chambers' basketball squad looked like it would be in for a long, disappointing season. However, the Tribe turned completely around by winning the Richmond Invitational, beating every Southern Conference team at least once, and finishing the regular season with a superb 15-8 record. The Indians won 13 out of their last 16 games, including nine straight Southern Conference victories, and finished third in the league which equaled the squad's highest finish since the 1959-60 third-place windup.

The outstanding feature of this year's basketball five was the tremendous team balance rather than the one individual star. Up front were Kirk Gooding, the squad's outstanding rebounder; Bob Harris, the leading scorer; and Martin Morris, the only sophomore on the starting five. The Tribe probably had the two best guards in the league in senior Roger Bergey and junior Dave Hunter. The squad was fortunate in having a top-notch guard and forward reserve in Paul Cowley and Jim Roy respectively.

William and Mary began the season by traveling to Washington, D. C., to meet the Colonials of George Washington. The Tribe came out on the short end 60-50 as opening-game-jitters prevailed. The team returned to friendly Blow Gymnasium, where they lost only one game all year, and trounced a good Hampden-Sydney team 77-64 as Roger Bergey poured in 20 points.

The Green and White traveled to Blacksburg and attempted to halt V. P. L.'s 40-game home winning streak. The Indians lost in overtime 77-71, but the fine team effort pointed to brighter happenings in the future. When William and Mary defeated Virginia 71-69 in Charlottesville, it marked the end of the Tribe's 17-game losing streak on the road and evened the team's record at 2-2.

The Indians then went into a nose dive and lost three straight, two in the Steel Bowl and one to Furman 56-55 for the only home loss of the season. Behind Kirk Gooding, the team rebounded and won the Richmond Invitational to improve their record to 4-5 at the year's end.

The Tribe started the new year by dropping two of three games as Kirk Gooding was out of action due to a leg injury. After an 83-69 win over Citadel, Gooding returned, and the Indians were unbeatable the rest of the year, losing only to nationally ranked Georgia Tech 50-49 down at Atlanta. The Green and White humbled arch-rival Tech 78-63 and beat V. M. I. 80-71 and Davidson 70-63 before being ambushed by Georgia Tech.

The Indians came right back and won their last five regular season games before entering the Southern Conference Tournament. Included in the final victories was a thrilling 75-72 triumph over nationally ranked West Virginia before a capacity crowd in Norfolk.

SWIMMING

This year's swimming team finished the season with the best record a William and Mary swimming team has had since 1955. Their 6-4 record included victories over Georgetown, Davidson, Clemson, and Catholic University. As in the past Dudley Jensen coached the mermen. This year's captain was Turk Despard.

This sophomore-dominated squad should develop into one of the best, if not the best, swimming team William and Mary has ever had. The fourteen-man squad contained only three seniors: Despard, Bill Morrell, and Dave Buckle. The rest of the squad was composed of sophomores.

Ron Good and Pete McIntosh led this record-breaking group of sophomores. Good holds three pool records at William and Mary, in addition to his records elsewhere. McIntosh holds three school marks. Pete specializes in the 200-yard butterfly and individual medley, and Ron's main event is the 100-yard freestyle. Another sophomore record breaker is Dick Wolfson, who broke the backstroke record this year.

The completion of the dual meets leaves only the Southern Conference Championship meet, March 7-9, and the State A. A. U.'s, March 16, at Richmond, to be decided. The conference championship is up for grabs, and the William and Mary mermen would like nothing better than winning it. It is quite probable that Ron Good and Pete McIntosh will win some events in both of these meets.

The return of eleven members of this year's varsity plus a fine group of freshmen from this year's freshman mermen should produce another good team next year. The freshmen will give the much needed depth that this year's team lacked.

RIFLE TEAM

Jim Melchor and Dick Wentz on the firing line

This year Coach Patrick's riflemen have greatly improved their record over last year. Led by their new captain, letterman Tom Farrington, the team is consistently shooting well over last year's high score. Their record is now three wins and two losses as they prepare for a crucial series of matches in February.

Jim Chambers has the year's best average so far in competition. Close behind is Farrington, who has led the team off and on this year. They are backed by Jim Melchor, Dennis Peacock and Tom Siciliano who usually round out the top five. Others in and out of the top five are Bob Clark, Joe Nash, Dave Eastham, Dick Wentz, Gene Moser, Terrell Rees and Paul Abramo who all have constantly improving averages.

The highest competition score so far is a 288 by Jim Melchor. The highest practice score is a 290 by Dennis Peacock.

Next year the team's average should continue to improve with only two shooters leaving the team and ample support coming from this year's freshman team.

This year's William and Mary baseball team hopes to improve on last year's dismal 4-12 record. The Tribe's four victories last year were against Washington and Lee, George Washington, and VMI twice. All except one were recorded early in the season as the team then went into a disappointing second half slump.

The season starts early in March as soon as Coach Joe Agee is finished with his freshman basketball team. The first game is early in April as the squad travels south to prepare for the year in warmer weather. The season continues through the end of May.

It is hoped that the great experience gained by the returning members of last year's team will enable the Tribe to improve its 1962 season record. Only two players graduated from last year's squad. As many of last year's players were sophomores who had no freshman experience since no frosh coach was available behind them, these players should prove themselves this spring. Coach Agee hopes for a good season from catcher Roger Hardy, short-stop-outfielder Jay Nickel, third baseman Mike Griffin, outfielder-infielder Jim Bennett, outfielder-pitcher Bruce "Irish" O'Hara, and pitcher Jim Hunter. If these veterans enjoy a successful season, the Indians have a good chance of improving last year's record.

Further help for the varsity should be provided by last season's freshman team which won four of seven games. Those expected to be the most help are infielders Jeff Nickel and George Chappell, pitchers John Houston and John McCarthy, outfielder Sam Miller, and catcher Kenny Williams.

If the Indians expect to improve this year they must eliminate the excessive amount of fielding lapses that plagued them last year. Success in this area, and the development of some reliable hitting could result in a successful season.

TRACK AND FIELD

The William and Mary track team enjoyed another successful season last spring, combining great team effort and many excellent individual performances for a winning formula. The Indian tracksters compiled a 7-1 dual meet record, then finished with a third place berth in the Southern Conference meet, and first place in the state meet.

In the Southern Conference meet, the Indians captured four individual championships and finished behind powerful Furman and runner-up Citadel. Pete Bracken, William and Mary's athlete of the year, was unbeatable in the shot-put and discus events. Bob Diederich took the high hurdles, while Bill Jeffries successfully defended his high jump title. In taking the state crown the Indians defeated Atlantic Coast Conference powerhouse U. Va. Other highlights of the season included victories over Wake Forest and Georgetown, participation in the Quantico and Penn Relay meets, and a trip to Florida during spring vacation.

Several school records were broken during the season. Setting the new marks were: Bob Lawson, 2 mile; Ron Henry, pole vault; Pete Bracken, shot-put and discus; Jerry Gimmel, 880. Charlie Jones set a new freshman hop-step-and-jump record.

In the spring of 1963, William and Mary should again field a strong team. Heading the list of returnees are seniors Bill Jeffries, Dale Thoma, and Doug Hinkel. Jeffries and Thoma will act as co-captains. Several experienced juniors and five sophomore prospects should provide enough depth to insure another winning season for coach Harry Groves.

The team will again head for Florida during spring vacation in preparation for opening defense of its State Crown.

GOLF

Last spring the William and Mary golf team topped off a successful 7-2 season with a win over the University of Richmond. Besides Richmond, the linksmen handed defeat to VMI, Virginia Tech, George Washington, Washington and Lee, and twice to Norfolk William and Mary. Their only losses were to Navy and the University of Virginia. Participation in the Big Five and Southern Conference tourneys completed the schedule.

This year the Indians hope to have another successful season, despite the loss of two fine golfers, Jeff Udell and last year's captain, Jeff Graham. Expected to participate this year are Joe Cunningham, Terry Lady, Jim Cuddihy, Tom Haley, John Simon, and Knox Lovell. Because there was no freshman team last year, the squad will look forward to seeing capable sophomores help the team to another winning record.

The linksmen will again be coached by Lou Holtz. This year the Indian captain will be senior Joe Cunningham. The schedule is not yet completed, but will probably include ten to twelve matches, spread over a period of one and a half to two months.

The William and Mary tennis team hopes to compile another winning record this year. Last year's team finished with an 8-5 record, and took fourth place in the Southern Conference tournament. Last year's eight wins included important victories over Washington and Lee, Haverford, Richmond, and Williams.

Although three of the Indians' top "netters" are gone from last year's team, the Indians still have a well-experienced team. Several of last year's top players were juniors or sophomores and will return this year. Among these are seniors Chico Herrick and Steve Parker. This doubles team lost to George Washington in the doubles final of the Southern Conference tournament last year. Another returning player is junior Dave Hunter. The final area of strength is provided by a group of sophomores including Mickey Taylor, Craig Carlson, and Lew Matthews. Though last year's freshman team record was not too good, it showed good potential. It is hoped that this potential will be developed enough to help this year's varsity tennis team.

Men's Intramurals for the 62-63 season got off to a fast start as fraternity and independent teams gathered forces for football. Sig Ep surprised everyone as they jumped into first place with five straight victories without allowing their opponents a single point. Perennial powerhouse KA matched Sig Ep's perfect record until the sixth game when they battled PiKA to a 6-6 tie. Then the roof fell in on Sig Ep. They lost twice in one week, 19-18 to SAE and 21-6 to the rejuvenated KA's. The KA Rebels eventually captured the crown, while Sigma Pi moved into second place. As an additional prize, the Rebels stomped the independent winner, Brown 2nd, by a score of 36-8 to win the traditional fraternity-independent championship.

In place-kicking, Jim Robinson again led Theta Delt to a championship. Intramural swimming was highlighted by several fine freshman swimmers, who swam in the name of the

The horseshoe competition was rugged and stiff with Kappa Alpha's E. J. Bowen taking first place. On total points Sigma Pi emerged victorious, followed by KA. Sigma Pi completely dominated the tennis courts.

Attention next turned to volleyball where all eyes were on Sigma Pi and PiKA. Both were near the top in the battle for overall intramural champs, and both jumped off to 6-0 records in volleyball. In the crucial meeting of the two giants, PiKA stomped Sigma Pi and took the championship. Meanwhile the faculty dominated the independent league for the second straight year, compiling a perfect 8-0 record.

For the second straight year Tom Brennan led PiKA to victory in the free throws contest, hitting on all fifty attempts.

Sig Ep dethroned last year's champs, Lambda Chi, to take the bowling division.

The first semester's events closed with wrestling, the most popular event. Pete Nance, Paul Laparti, Paul Zisman, Fred Everett, Ash Woolridge, Ed Jean, Richard Grizzard and Chuck Puskar took first place in their respective classes. Puskar upset John Sapinsky in an overtime match to win the unlimited class championship.

Sig Ep's strong showing in the wrestling competition pushed them into the lead in the point standings at the end of the first semester with 512 $\frac{1}{2}$ . Close behind was Sigma Pi with 507 points while PiKA, KA and Theta Delt completed the top five.

ASSOCIATION

CAROL WYLIE, President

The Women's Athletic Association organizes and supervises women's varsity and intramural sports. Upon matriculation all women students automatically become members. Three committees comprise the Association: The Joint Committee, the Managers Board, and the Intramural Committee. The business of the Association is conducted by the Joint Committee, composed of the student officers, three faculty members appointed by the President of the College, and the Director of Intramurals.

The 1962-63 Association officers are: president, Lynn Thomas; secretary, Polly Bean; point recorder, Kathy Wiese; student head of intramurals, Carol Ann Wylie; secretary of Managers Board, Gretchen Scherer. The Women's Physical Education Department and Mrs. Reeve, Director of Intramurals, assist these student heads.

Intramurals are scheduled September through May to permit all women students to participate in some recreational activity. Participation is organized through the sixteen dormitory and sorority teams, or in some sports, by individual entry. Each dormitory and sorority elects an intramural representative.

Individuals and teams receive points for participation or service. The 500 Club, composed of those who earn 500 points in all areas of participation, assists the Joint Committee in planning a freshman picnic and the Spring Awards Banquet, as well as hosting visiting teams, and publicizing Association events on the campus. The highest individual award for participation in all areas is the 1000 point college blazer. The intramural trophy is presented to the team accumulating the highest point total.

The squaws drive for a goal

The varsity hockey team, coached by Miss Fran Rucker, successfully opened its season with a 6-3 victory over Petersburg. Rosie Wilbur scored four of the goals. After a 2-1 defeat at the hands of the Richmond Club, the Squaws fought to a 3-3 tie against the spirited Mary Washington team with Donna Nunn scoring all three goals. The Squaws then notched another victory by defeating Old Dominion. The varsity team closed its season as they tied Westhampton 2-2.

The spirited second team boasted a 3-0 record. At the Tidewater Field Hockey Association Tournament, Donna Nunn, Judy Bryan and Mary Chichester were selected to the team.

After starting practice early in December, the women's basketball season opened January 12.

The roving player, allowed by the rule changes this year, entitled two players on each team to cover the complete court. This made for an improved game of basketball as more ball control was required and the speed of the game was increased.

Coached by Miss Fran Rucker, the squad was composed of Susan Stevenson, Cathy Thomson, Betty Coffman, Barbara Hopson, Lynda Walker, Judy Bryan, Mar-C Milona, Beth Chiles, and Bridget Sullivan.

The 1963 schedule included games with Bridgewater, Roanoke, Mary Washington, Westhampton, Longwood, Notre Dame, and Swarthmore.

Better watch out because here I come

The 1962 Lacrosse team under the coaching of Miss Joan Pattison opened the season by traveling to various colleges. Although the Squaws, with Dot Young as captain, lost to Sweet Briar, the game was said to be "one of the best seen in the state." After losing to Hollins, the team defeated Westhampton 5-3.

The Virginia Women's Lacrosse Association Tournament was held at William and Mary. The Squaws were victorious 5-2 over Sweet Briar and tied Westhampton 3-3. Seven girls were selected for the Virginia all star teams: on the first team, Judy Bryan, Eve Rothrock, and captain Dot Young; on the reserve team, Lynn Marcus; as honorable mention, Polly Bean, Dabney Delaney, and Carol Ann Wylie.

Following tryouts at the end of March, the tennis team, under the coaching of Miss Barksdale, was formed with Liz Hotchkin, Sally Wells, and Joan Brame as one, two, and three, respectively, on the ladder.

After losing to Sweet Briar, the squad defeated both Westhampton and Mary Washington by the slim margin 3-2. Traveling to Suffolk the team lost, as they also did in Richmond against R. P. I. The tennis team closed out the season by defeating Longwood in Farnville.

The fencing team is comprised mainly of girls who have been exposed to fencing only through the P. E. classes and who wish to continue with work. Due to various conflicts, many of last year's fencers were unable to be members this year, but the squad was replenished with an enthusiastic group. Under the coaching of Miss Reeder and with the help of returning members, there promised a season in which much would be gained.

Several matches were scheduled for the 1963 season. The team competed in a challenging match with the YMCA of Baltimore. Other matches were held with Mary Washington, Madison, and Richmond Y group.
